CHINESE OUTLOOK DARK.

Foreign Ministers Deadlocked Over Peace Negotiations.

EARL LI PLEADS FOR PLAN

Radical Differences Between Great Britain and Russia May Lead to Serious Situation.

PROTESTANT MISSIONARIES CONFER

PEKIN, July 16.—Things are not quite as they seem to outsiders here. In fact the political situation is a most serious one. The foreign Ministers are completely dead-locked in the peace negotiations and those who care to speak on the outlook say it was never darker, and grows gloomier day after day. The meeting arranged for to-day was postponed because it was apparent that the proceedings would be fruitless.

It was at the meeting of July 14 that the Ministers reached something in the nature of an agreement as to the indemnity. But, almost immediately a radical difference developed between Great Britain and Russia as to the details of the plan of payment. All the Ministers were in accord with the scheme early In June, subject to the approval of their goverments; but Great Britain disapproved the arrangement on the ground that it did not adequately protect her commercial interests.

The neutral Ministers assert that either Great Britain or Russia must make material concessions before a conclusion of the agreement is possible. Meanwhile the committees of the Ministers are working upon comparatively unimportant details, such as improvements in navigation; but if the financial question was settled the negotiations could be closed in a day.

Li Hung Chang keeps sending strenuous requests to the Ministers of the powers to present a complete plan. He represents that China is willing to accept any reasonable terms and is chiefly anxious to know definitely what the powers require, so that she may begin compliance with the terms.

The Ministers regard newspaper accusations of procrastination on their part as exceedingly unjust. The government and not the Ministers are responsible, the Ministers say, for the deadlock.

A conference of the Protestant missionaries with Dr. Brown, of the New York Presbyterian Board, has been held. The general opinion was that there was no need to relinquish any of the missions for greater concentration and harmony. The idea prevailed that Pekin would remain the capitol notwithstanding the unsatisfactory political conditions. Preparations for rebuilding missions are making on an extensive scale. Several hundred thousand taels will be devoted to education. The fact was emphasized that the American Board College, the Methodist University and the Presbyterians were co-operating, though federation or organic union is deemed impracticable.

An official estimate of the cost of repairing the offices, temples and palaces places the amount at 5.000,000 taels. The roads are being prepared for the return of the court. This will cost 3,000,000 taels. Such expenditures are not likely to affect the people favorably.

The orders for the departure of the Bombay cavalry from Tien Tsin have been countermanded and the strength of the British troops remaining here will be increased by one thousand men.

New Warm Weather Disease.

The recent hot wave which swept over the country has added a new ailment to the many ills which affect humanity and it is said that thousands are suffering from it. Philadelphia physicians term the new disease "chronic heat stroke." Those who worried through the warm weather without succumbing are now the greatest sufferers. Instead of prostrating them, as it did hundreds of people, the heat caused a depression, from which sprang pains in the head and chest, a feeling of lassitude in the limbs, sleeplessness and general debility. The strain of these ailments has incapacitated many and driven hundreds to their family physicians.

The best remedy, physicians agree, is plenty of sleep and rest from toil; a gentle tonic should be taken, plenty of cold, but not iced, water. All alcoholic drinks should be avoided. One Philadelphia doctor says this new ailment is as bad as la grippe.

—There is a difference of opinion as to the good that will come of the innovation of a Virginia preacher, who offers to buy clothes for those who say they stay away from church because their clothes are shabby.

FRANCIS X. LEHMAN.

A Native of Bellefonte Dies at Patton, Pa.

The Patton Courier gives the following particulars of the death of Francis X. Lehman :

The deceased was the son of Francis X. and the late Mrs. Sophia Lehman and had been employed at the Riley mine for the past six months. On the Fourth of July he assisted at the City restaurant, and although he did not feel well he refused to go home. On Friday afternoon he consulted a physician, who ordered him home and diagnosed his trouble as appendicitis. He grew rapidly worse and an operation was decided upon. This was performed on Sunday morning at 1 o'clock. They found the disease in a most advanced stage, and while every effort possible was made to prolong his life, he passed away at 11:50 p. m. Monday.

He was born at Bellefonte on January 29, 1884. He left that place when but two years old, when the family moved to Williamsport, and later resided in Lock Haven, moving to Patton four years ago last November. He leaves three brothers and two sisters. A half brother, George, and two half sisters, Gertrude and Rose, at home, also survive.

The funeral was held Friday morning at 8 o'clock at St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Father Pierron, with interment in the Cassidy cemetery.

TUESDAY'S STORM.

Much Damage Done in Penns Valley —A Man Killed at Julian.

A fierce electrical storm accompanied by a downpour of rain did considerable damage in different parts of Centre county Tuesday afternoon. In Penns Valley it was especially severe. Trees were blown down and the crops suffered severely many fields being entirely wash out. The afternoon train from Lewisburg was delayed a half hour owing to the water that covered the track at different points.

Many buildings were struck by lightning. At Julian the lightning struck the barn on the farm of Charles Boyer. Ira Heaton, the tenent farmer, and several other men were at work in the barn at the time. All were badly shocked but recovered except Heaton who died from its effects. Heaton was 35 years of age and leaves a wife and six children.

Change of Schedule on Bald Eagle Valley R. R.

On July 15th 1901, a change in Schedule will take place on Tyrone Division (Bald Eagle Valley Branch)—Train No. 52 due at Bellefonte at 1:20 p. m. will not come into Bellefonte. Passengers for points east of Milesburg, will take train No. 53 at 1:05 p. m. and change cars at Milesburg. An annex train will bring passengers from No. 52 to Bellefonte. By this arrangement, passengers can reach Lock Haven in time to connect with the P. E. Vestibule Express East to Philadelphia, Washington and west to Buffalo.

Snake That Was Fond of Chickens.

Mrs. Hiram Stiles, of near Westport, has been missing her young chickens for some time. Attracted to the orchard the other day by a commotion among the chickens, Mrs. Stiles saw a large blacksnake endeavoring to capture one of the fowls. Mrs. Stiles attacked the reptile with a hoe, when his snakeship made his way through the grass for a tree, up which he began to crawl. Mrs. Styles struck the snake on the back, which caused the reptile to fall to the ground, where it was soon killed. The snake was six and a half feet long.

A Sumptuous Private Car.

First Vice President John P. Green, of the Pennsylvania railroad, is having a new private car built. It will be finished in solid mahogany, and is expected to be a marvel of up-to-date car building. The interior arrangement will differ little from that of the other private cars on the Pennsylvania system, but it will be furnished much more luxuriously. The car will be so arranged as to furnish very comfortable quarters for a small party on an extended trip, and it is probable that it will be chosen for the different presidential tours.

Death of An Infant.

Arthur Russel, the little nine month old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Rinesmith, died at his parents home on West Bishop street Tuesday evening at 9:30 o'clock of stomach trouble. The funeral will occur this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the house, Rev. W. P. Shriner will officiate. Interment in the Union cemetery.

—About 1,000 firemen struck in the anthracite coal region Tuesday and forced many mines to shut down, throwing thousands of miners out of work.

GREAT STRIKE IS ON.

The Orders of President Shaffer Were Generally Obeyed.

MANY PLANTS ARE SHUT DOWN

Remarkable as It May Seem There Are Fewer Idle Men in Pittsburg, the Steel Centre, Than in Other Places.

EMPLOYING PEOPLE SAY LITTLE

PITTSBURG, July 16.—Reports received from all sources connected with the great strike of the steel workers Monday indicate that the members of the Amalgamated association had matters well in hand and that the strike order was generally obeyed. Telegrams from various points where the mills of the American Tin plate company, the American Steel Hoop company and the American Sheet Steel company are located, told of the shutting down of these plants in large numbers. In many cases the plants had been shut down by the first strike order which affected the sheet steel and the steel hoop companies only. The last order brought out all the union plants of the American Tin Plate company with the single exception of the new mill in Monessen, which is still running. At the Amalgamated association headquarters it was stated that the figures given on Saturday night regarding the number of men who would be actually idle in the mills of the three companies had been proven correct. This number was placed at 74,000.

The strike, although one of the greatest that has been declared in recent years, will affect Pittsburg but slightly. Despite the fact that this city is, and for years has been the recognized industrial centre of the world, President Shaffer's action in calling the men of the American Sheet Steel, American Tin Plate and American Steel Hoop companies out on strike will have but little bearing on the commercial life of Pittsburg. This is a peculiar fact, but it is nevertheless true, of the 74.000 men idle 2,500 are in Pittsburg, 800 in Allegheny, and 1,500 in McKeesport.

President Shaffer has it in his power to close many more Pittsburg mills, but it is thought that he will do nothing of a radical nature until he is compelled to.

The American Steel Hoop company, supposedly a non-union mill, known as the Painter mill, in West Carson street, was closed Monday morning in all its branches. The tie up at the mill was said to have been complete, to the mill owners and the officials in charge of it. The other plant, known as the Lindsay & McCutcheon mill, in Allegheny, was shut down completely in the puddling and bar mills. All the skilled workmen refused to enter the mill Monday morning and the company did not even operate the five furnaces. The finishing department of the mill was working during the day as the men are not in the union but it is claimed by the workers that the employes in that department will not go to work in the morning.

The American Steel Hoop company mill at Monessen was not closed Monday. It has not been union since it has been built two years and the company says the men there will remain loyal. The amalgamated people would not discuss the situation in that mill at present.

What the next move will be the workers would not say. It was announced Monday night that the circular letter, which was expected to be sent out Monday calling on the men in the mills of the Federal Steel company, the National Steel company and the National Tube company to come out would not be issued at present.

Pilot's Body Found.

The body of George Frymier, pilot of the ill fated excursion boat which was demolished by the explosion Saturday at Sunbury, was found in the river Sunday morning at 9 o'clock. The body was badly mutilated, the breast being entirely torn away.

Men with grappling irons worked for nearly twenty-four hours before locating the body, which was found about fifty yards from the scene of the wreck. Charles Keller, one of the injured boys, is at the hospital in a very serious condition.

Coroner Dreher, of Shamokin, will have the remnants of the wrecked boiler thoroughly examined before allowing his jury to place the blame for the accident, which has thus far cost two lives.

—Farmers in the vicinity of Jersey Shore are complaining of a singular black worm which is destroying the potato crop. It is said to thrive on the poison put on the plants.

PLEASURE STEAMER WRECKED.

Engineer and a Boy Killed by an Explosion at Sunbury.

Sunbury, July 15.—The excursion steamer, "Montour," was wrecked Saturday morning at 9.30 o'clock and completely demolished by the explosion of the boiler. The "Montour" was a small steamboat recently brought here for use on the river as an excursion boat. Saturday morning while the steamer lay at the Market street wharf the boiler exploded. The only person on board at the time of the explosion occurred, was the engineer, a man named Frymire. He was making preparations to start at 10 o'clock with the boat to take Superintendent E. B. Westfall and a party of friends for an excursion on the river. Engineer Frymire is missing and it is supposed his body is at the bottom of the stream.

Men are dragging the river with grappling irons in hopes of finding the body. There were a number of boys on a flat which lay along side of the steamer fishing. One of these, a boy named Fetzer aged 12 years, was killed and two others, named Keller and Pullen, were badly injured and may die.

The injured boys were taken to the Mary Packer hospital.

There is but little left of the "Montour." The whole upper part of the boat was demolished by the force of the explosion. Nothing remains but the bottom of the steamer and a portion of the engine. Had the explosion occured half an hour later. Superintendent Westfall and party would have been on board and would likely all have been killed.

The cause of the explosion is of course unknown as the engineer who was the only man on the steamer at the time is missing and his body supposed to be in the bottom of the river.

Death of John Isenberg.

John Isenberg, the young man who fell from a wagon a week ago last Saturday, while delivering groceries, and whose whole body was paralyzed and neck broken by the fall, died at his home in Graysville Sunday morning at 8 o'clock. He regained consciousness before he died and was able to recognize his family and friends.

Deceased was born at Graysville and was the son of the late Thomas Isenberg, a well known citizen of that community. He was 20 years of age and unmarried, and is survived by his mother, seven sisters and three brothers.

He was a member of P. O. S. of A., of Baileyville, and was an exemplary young man in every particular. The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Love officiated. Interment at Graysville.

—According to report Judge Max Mitchell, recently appointed to the bench in Lycoming county, has introduced at least one important time and money-saving innovation in the interest of the tax payers. Instead of having the Grand Jury convene and organize on the first morning of court week, he calls the members of that important body together the previous week and has them act upon the bills which have been prepared for their consideration by the District Attorney. By the adoption of this plan considerable time is saved, while if any bills are ignored the parties interested are thus given ample notice of the fact that they and their witnesses and all concerned are able to save the time and money that a trip to the county town and waste of two or three days hanging around waiting for the action of the Grand Jury would involve.

Hot on the Engine.

When a locomotive is stopped these days the engineers and firemen who have to remain in the cabs suffer terribly from the intense heat. The average temperature in a locomotive cab when it is not in motion is 120. This is a terrible strain on the men and it is no wonder that many of them are inclined to take their vacations in the heated term. It is not an easy task to run a locomotive on any road at present, when the heat of nature is hot enough to bear without the additional heat of a Bellaire or extended wagon top boiler with a steam pressure of 220 pounds.

The Smith Farms.

The real estate of Dr. Charles Smith, deceased, late of Nittany valley, consisting of five farms, we are informed, has been disposed of or mostly altogether to the heirs. Peter Smith, a son living on the farm at Centre Hill many years, has taken that farm at about $35 per acre. The farm at the pike went at about $60 per acre. There are four heirs and the real estate will be worth something like $20,000.

SAFELY RODE THE RAPIDS

Graham Skirted the Whirlpool at Niagara.

HE WAS ALMOST SUFFOCATED

Philadelphia Man Made a Perilous Trip in Barrel, While Thousands of Spectators Looked On.

A THRILLING EXPERIENCE

BUFFALO, July 15.—Carlisle D. Graham made his fifth successful journey down the rapids of Niagara river Saturday afternoon in the same boat which he used in his last previous trip twelve years ago. He almost suffocated from heat, being confined in the barrel for thirty-five minutes.

Graham got in the barrel at 3.30 o'clock at the old landing place of the steamer Maid of the Mist. The barrel had been standing in the sun all day, inviting inspection by the thousands who had come to the Falls to see the feat, and it was hot and uncomfortable when Graham entered it. The barrel is barely large enough to hold Graham strapped in an upright position, and the only air hole is a tiny one in the top, the diameter of a man's finger.

The boatmen who took Graham and his barrel out for the start were afraid of going too far for their own safety, and, consequently, did not put it in midstream. It drifted down as far as the cantilever bridge, and then was caught in an eddy, which took it half way back to the starting place. It held in this eddy just twenty minutes and Graham was rapidly growing exhausted from the heat and lack of air. He was tempted, he said afterward, to open the hole through which air entered, but did not know just where he was in his journey.

Finally the barrel got in the middle of the stream and struck the white capped rapids. Graham then opened the little hole in the top of the barrel and some of the cold water splashing helped to revive him. His trip was then reaching the exciting stage.

Once in the rapids the passage was swift. It was three and a half minutes from the time the barrel struck the rapids until it floated into the whirlpool. The barrel was in sight of the many thousand spectators all the time, except for a second when a wave washed over it. Four swimmers were in the water a hundred feet from the shore at the terminus of the voyage. Captain Billy Johnson, of the life saving guards at Coney Island, bossed the job.

The barrel was not carried into the dizzy maze of the whirlpool, but skirting it reached the hands of the swimmers. This did not please some young fellow, also in the water, who wanted to see the barrel spin, and one of them jumped on the barrel, shoving it under the water, and trying to send it toward the whirlpool. He was chased away and Graham was towed ashore and released. He was so exhausted that he had to be fanned half an hour before he could tell his story. His bruises were few.

Graham, who is now past fifty years old, say the principal discomfort of the journey is the lack of air. He received $300 for his feat, the money being subscribed by business men who profited by the crowds it attracted.

In an interview Graham said:

"When I started on the trip Saturday I was not in as good condition as I was on my trip years ago. You see I am 51 years of age and my weight is 190 pounds. My barrel weighs only 165 pounds. While I should have been out of the barrel in fifteen minutes I was in it nearly an hour, for it was after 4 o'clock that I heard voices at the whirlpool. I have a small peephole in the barrel which I usually close but when I passed the cantilever bridge today I was so nearly suffocated that I had to leave this open, the result being that I took in about six inches of water. While I do not state it positively, I think this will be my last trip in a barrel. However, in a few weeks I shall go through again and I shall endeavor to make that the greatest performance ever witnessed at the falls. No, I am not prepared to tell just how I shall do it, but it will be spectacular."

SHOCKED BY LIGHTNING.

Were Teacher and Pupils in a Potter County School House.

At Hector Corners, Potter county, the other day during an electric storm, lightning destroyed one barn, damaged two more and then hit the school house, occupied by the teacher, Lemuel Sutton, and twenty-five pupils. The bolt struck the chimney of the structure and came down into the room, causing nearly every pupil to fall from their seats. At the time Mr. Sutton had a class on a recitation bench in front of the room. Every pupil was thrown forward and the bench overturned. Mr. Sutton fell from his chair and remained unconscious for some moments. When he revived a most alarming sight met his eyes. Some of his pupils were shrieking at the full power of their lungs, others were moaning piteously, while a small number lay in the positions in which they fell from their seats. Mr. Sutton immediately began to remove the most seriously affected children to the open air, where they soon began to revive. No serious results have been reported, although several of the pupils were quite badly burned and received severe shocks.

An Interesting Trial.

Quite an interesting trial was in progress in the court room during the greater part of last week. The proceedings involved the condemnation of what is known as the Bald Eagle, Nittany and Brush Valley turnpike road, extending from the Clinton county line in Walker township to Emanuel Harter's farm buildings in Miles township. The jury was composed of Joseph Hoy, Sr., Henry C. Campbell, Daniel Hall, Nathaniel Bierly and S. D. Ray. C. M. Bower, Esq., represented the petitioners, C. G. and S. D. Furst, of Lock Haven, and Clement Dale, Esq., of Bellefonte. the Turnpike company, and J. C. Meyer, Esq , the county.

One day was devoted to going over the route of the turnpike, one day was taken up by the petitioners in producing testimony in favor of condemning the turnpike, while four days were divided about equally between the owners of the turnpike and the county in furnishing evidence as to the amount of damages to be allowed. The Master, W. G. Runkle, Esq., appointed by the Court, presided over the deliberations. After consulting about one hour the jury returned a verdict in favor of condemning the turnpike and awarded to the owners the sum of $1,104.20 damages.

A Shower of Toads Fell In Lock Haven,

After one of the heavy showers that passed over Lock Haven Thursday afternoon, it was noticed in places that the streets and sidewalks were literally covered with little toads. In the first ward the tiny creatures were especially numerous, and it was almost impossible to walk along the pavement without crusling them under the feet of pedestrians.

The toads seemed to be all of the same size, about as large as a bean and were as lively as crickets. They were of a dark color, in fact almost black. When a person passed along the sidewalk the toads could be seen hopping in every direction. Along some of the streets they were quite numerous yet Friday morning.

Many people are of the opinion that the toads came down during the shower, in fact rained down. Others, however, think they were only recently hatched and were awaiting a cloudy shower time like that afforded Thursday afternoon to make their appearance and begin toad life in earnest.—Lock Haven Express.

Cannot Drink and Teach.

A recent act of the legislature forbids the using of alcoholic drinks by school teachers. The substance of the law referred to is as follows:

That after the first Monday of June, 1902. no teacher in this commonwealth shall receive from a county, city or borough superintendent, a certificate as a teacher who has not a fair knowledge of orthography, English grammar, mental and written arithmetic, history of the United States, the theory of teaching, and civil government, including state and local, and elementary algebra, nor shall such certificate be given to any person who is in the habit of using, as a beverage, any intoxicating drinks, or habitually takes opium; and all certificates given to teachers shall set forth the branches in which those holding them have been found proficient and indicate by suitable marks the degrees of that proficiency.

NO AGREEMENT REACHED

Capital and Labor Meet in Pittsburg in Conference.

STRIKE SETTLEMENT DISCUSSED

Both Sides Presented Views on the Subjects, Which Means So Much to Each and to the Country at Large.

MANY PROMINENT PEOPLE PRESENT

PITTSBURG, July 12,—The great labor conference at the Hotel Lincoln Thursday failed to come to any agreement. Another conference was be held this morning. The object of the conference was the settlement of the strike ordered by the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers in the mills of the American Steel Sheet company and in those of the American Steel Hoop company.

The conference also had another purpose in view—the prevention of a general strike in all the mills controlled by the United States Steel corporation, the two companies in whose mills the strike had been ordered being constituent companies of the steel combine. Two sessions of the conference were held yesterday. The first convened shortly after 10 o'clock in the morning. At noon the meeting adjourned for dinner. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the second session was convened and was continued until 5 o'clock. As a settlement within a reasonable time was seen to be out of the question the conference adjourned to meet at 10 o'clock today.

The Amalgamated association was represented at the conference by the general executive committee, the highest body in the association. The steel interests at the conference were represented by John Warner, of New York, chief of the operating department of the American Sheet Steel company; I. W. Jenks, of Pittsburg, manager of the American Steel Hoop company, Veryl Preston, of New York, late president of the American Steel Hoop company; Warner Ames and William Leeds, of New York, vice presidents of the American Tin Plate company, and Charles W. Bary, of Pittsburg, chief engineer of the same company. The United States Steel corporation is said to have been indirectly represented by Messrs. Warner and Preston.

At the afternoon session President Shaffer, in behalf of the Amalgamated association, formally presented the case for the organized workmen and the strikers. He laid stress upon the fact that the union had made no effort directly, to force a union in all the plants of the combine, for the reason that it was thought best to have the movement originate and be carried on among the workmen in the mills. Since last year, however, a new condition confronted the union men. The officials of the various companies had plainly indicated, he said, that they are working on a policy for operating their non-union plants in preference to the union mills and only working the latter when it is absolutely necessary.

In reply to the statements of President Shaffer, the officers of the various companies present gave an outline of their position. They denied any intention of injustice to workmen in their mills. The feeling for the Amalgamated has always been friendly and they had no desire to force any trouble among them.

The plea on both sides was listened to with the closest attention by all of the members of the conference. The tone on each side was amicable and it was apparent that the manufacturers' representatives were prepared to go a long ways to gain a peaceful solution of the existing difficulties.

UNIFORM MONEY ORDERS.

New Method Adopted by the Postoffice Department for Canada, Cuba and the Philippines.

The postoffice department has announced a further step toward uniformity in the postal systems of the United States, Canada and Cuba, in respect to the money orders exchanged between the United States and those countries and in harmony with the existing arrangements for the exchange of correspondence at domestic rates. Heretofore when international orders were issued the orders had to be sent to the nearest United States exchange office for certification, but under the new system these exchange offices are all abolished.

The general plan of the new system which went into effect July 1st is that money orders may be issued at any money order office in the United States, drawn on any money order office in Canada or Cuba, or vice versa, and that only the domestic money order form will be used in issuing money orders for payment in Canada or Cuba.

The practical effect of this arrangement is substantially the abandonment of most of the methods now followed in international money order business with those countries and the substitution therefor of the main processes now employed in the domestic money order business of this country. Another practical advantage will be the saving of time it took heretofore in going through the exchange offices.

Under the new arrangement the fees to be charged will be considerably less than heretofore, the domestic scale being charged for all orders drawn on Canada or Cuba. The scale runs as follows:

For orders for sums not exceeding $2.50, 3 cents; over $5 and not exceeding $10, 8 cents; over $75 and not exceeding $100, 30 cents. It will be seen that $100 may be sent for what $30 could be sent heretofore.

The money order service between the United States and the Philippines has also been changed and the business will hereafter be conducted on an independent basis.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Desire to be Released.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company is arranging to erect a large general station at Market street, near the central part of the city, Williamsport, and has offered the heirs of the late Peter Herdic $20,000 to release the company from the obligation whereby the company agreed to make its upper station at the Park Hotel its regular station perpetually.

—Governor Stone has signed the Congressional apportionment bill and Centre county is now in the 21st, congressional district with Clearfield, Cameron and McKean counties.

The Heart Cry of the Motherless Maiden.

"Mother, come back from that echoless shore
And take me again in your arms as of yore."

When the mother is taken from the home, the loss falls heavily on each member of the family. But in time kindly Nature heals the wounds, dulls the memory, and comforts the heart. The little girl turns anew to her dolls and her plays and her mother becomes a memory. The real loss that she has sustained comes to her much later in life, when "standing with reluctant feet where womanhood and girlhood meet," she feels the need of a mother's counsel.

She is perplexed about conditions of which she cannot speak to any other. She thinks of the family physician. But her delicate nature shrinks from the questions she might be called upon to answer. And so without counsel or help she drifts along while every day time tightens the fetters of disease.

Young women instinctively know that certain conditions are abnormal. They know that heads and backs were not made to ache. But they do not know where to turn for relief.

ANY MOTHER WOULD SAY

what almost every mother knows, that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best medicine for the cure of womanly ills. It not only cures headache and backache but it cures the womanly ills which cause these pains.

"I am so much better since I commenced taking your 'Favorite Prescription,'" writes Miss Jessie Simmons, of Thurston, Frederick Co., Md. "I am very much improved in health, and feel as though I had a new lease of life. It was just what I needed. Am more than thankful to you for the kindly interest you have taken, and hope that others will find the same benefit from your valuable books and medicines that I have."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not offered as a cure-all. It is a woman's medicine, and it accomplishes perfectly the cure of womanly diseases. It establishes regularity. It dries unhealthy and offensive drains. It heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It is a purely vegetable preparation, containing no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine nor any other narcotic, and cannot disagree with the most delicate constitution.

Young women especially do not realize how intimately the general health is related to the health of the delicate womanly organs. When the local diseases are cured by "Favorite Prescription" the general health at once improves. The appetite is restored, sleep is enjoyed, the form rounds out, the cheeks regain the hue of health. Miss Simmons says in the letter as a result of using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription she feels as though she had

"A NEW LEASE ON LIFE."

This is not only a feeling but a fact, as is shown by thousands of testimonials which say "'Favorite Prescription' has made a new woman of me."

"I am still improving more and more every day. I am just as well now as I was when I came into the world," writes Mrs. P. A. Graham, of 617 Race Street, New Orleans, La. "I will put it at that, anyway, for I cannot remember ever seeing a well day since I became a woman (twenty-five years ago), until six months ago when I began the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets.' They are the best medicines on earth made for women and their complaints. No matter what the disease may be even if called incurable by the doctors. If any suffering woman will write Doctor Pierce he will write her a fatherly letter and give her good advice and if she will follow his instructions will find out in a very short time that she has been mistaken by putting her trust in home doctors. I had been sick for eight years until six months ago I commenced with Dr. R. V. Pierce's medicine and it brought me out to where I am now, from ninety pounds to one hundred and thirty-five. Any lady may write to me, enclosing stamps, and I will answer."

Women suffering from diseases of long standing are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All letters are read in private and answered in private, and the written confidences of women are guarded by the same strict professional privacy observed in personal consultations with Dr. Pierce, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute. Address correspondence to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A great many women who have taken advantage of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter, have expressed their gratification at being able to escape in this way the indelicate questionings, the offensive examinations and obnoxious local treatments, considered necessary by some local practitioners. Dr. Pierce's wide experience and wonderful success in the treatment and cure of womanly diseases, enables him to obtain accurate knowledge of diseases by the written statement. In a little over thirty years, assisted by his staff of nearly a score of physicians, Dr. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has treated and cured hundreds of thousands of weak and sickly women.

The dealer who offers a substitute for "Favorite Prescription" as "just as good" does so to obtain the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious preparations. Accept no substitue for "Favorite Prescription," the medicine which makes weak women strong and sick women well.

WHAT MISS GREER THINKS.

"I think that your 'Adviser' is a fine book," writes Miss Flora I. Greer, of 107 Howe Street, Akron, Ohio, "and a book that everyone should own. If more girls would read it instead of trashy novels there would be healthier women and children than there are to-day."

The book referred to is Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It contains 1008 large pages and over 700 illustrations, and is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the cloth-bound volume, or only 21 stamps for the book in paper-covers. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

One of Clinton County's Progressive Farmers is Dead.

Mr. James H. Porter, one of the oldest residents of Lamar township, Clinton county, died Friday morning at his farm home near Mackeyville, aged 79 years. He is survived by his wife, three sons, John R., Hays H. and Adolphus D., and two daughters, Mrs. L. W. Dornblaser and Mrs. Harry Snyder, all of Nittany valley. Mr. Porter was born March 22, 1822, on the old Porter homestead within a mile of the place where he died and where he has resided nearly all his life.

For the past forty years he had lived upon the farm where he died and where he enjoyed the comforts and pleasures of a retired life. His early life was one of hardships, but by his frugal methods and honest and upright dealings with his fellow men he became one of the most prosperous farmers of Nittany valley. Mr. Porter was a strong temperance man and never used liquors or tobacco in any form.

He was a charter member of the grange and was justly regarded as one of the most valued and honored citizens of Clinton county.

The funeral took place Monday morning at 9 o'clock. Interment at Cedar Hill cemetery.

—The first of the series of concerts to be given at Hecla Park by the Coleville band occurred Friday afternoon and evening at that popular resort and was largely attended. A number of small picnic parties took advantage of the occasion and enjoyed the pleasure of the band concert and a day in the woods.

Snakes Like Siamese Twins.

A Susquehanna county farmer named William S. Foley, has captured two snakes that are united similar to the Siamese twins. The twins have two heads and two tails, and the rest of their body is like that of a single snake, with the exception of a single depression above and below, extending their entire length. The bodies join about six inches from the head. The tails are each almost a foot long. The length of the joined body is two feet nine inches. The twins were first seen last summer by Sullivan Foley, who saw them crossing the turn pike, just below his house. He ran across them a few days ago when blasting a rock to make room for a bill of potatoes, and succeeded in taking them captive. The twin snakes are jet black, with a yellow ring just below the head. Both mouths eat, and in traveling seem to be wholly of the same mind about everything.

For Over Fifty Years.

GRANGE EMCAMPMENT,

GRANGE PARK, CENTRE HALL,

SEPTEMBER 14TH TO 20TH, INCLUSIVE.

From Grange Trade Bulletin.

The Centre County Pomona Grange is making larger preparations for its annual Encampment next September than they have any previous year. Some radical changes and improvements will be made in the arrangement of the camp so as to make it more agreeable to the tent holders.

It will have nice clean and well put up tents, which will be rented as low as $3.00 for the term of the Encampment.

The Centre County Pomona Grange has now twenty-one subordinate granges under its jurisdiction, a new grange being organized recently in the county.

Camp will be open for Patrons of other counties at the same rates as given to Patrons of Centre county.

Camp will also be open to respectable people outside of the grange.

Every tent holder is absolutely protected by a competent police force patroling the ground day and night.

Some of the best grange speakers that can be secured will lecture each day and fine entertainments will be given in the Auditorium every evening.

You are cordially invited to come and try the Grange Encampment at Centre Hall this year.

This outing will cost you less than anywhere you can go.

Railroad fares will be one rate for the round trip.

Boarding can be had at 25 cents per meal for regular boarders.

Convenient arrangements will also be made for those who prefer to board themselves.

No gambling devices or immoral show licensed on the ground.

Ample amusements and entertainment to satisfy all.

Free admission at the gates.

All are cordially invited to come and participate in this great annual Patrons' outing.

BANNER SALVE,
the most healing salve in the world.

THE STATE GRANGE AND OLEO PROSECUTIONS.

From Grange Trade Bulletin.

Since the passage of the Oleo law, through the efforts of the Grange and the Pure Butter Protective Association, there will no doubt be many private prosecutions, as the grange and the farmers have it within their own power to protect the butter interests.

The State Grange should come to their rescue by securing true and trusted counsellors in prosecution of these cases. To do this the State Grange should employ an attorney by the year, one who has had experience in Oleo prosecutions and who would be willing to serve at a reasonable compensation for his services. His traveling expenses and part of his compensation could be paid out of the fines when collected.

For Incorrigible Boys.

The following act relating to incorrigible boys will be read with interest by everyone except by the class of boys against whom it is intended to operate. Good behavior, however, will have a tendency to reduce their cause for alarm:

That from and after the passage of this act, it shall be lawful for judges of the courts of quarter sessions of the peace, magistrates and justices of the peace in this commonwealth to commit, with the consent of parent, guardian or custodian, vicious or incorrigible minors, of the male sex, to the Philadelphia Protectory for Boys, located at Protectory, Montgomery county, Pennsylvania.

Such commitment shall be made by any judge, magistrate or justice, as aforesaid, upon complaint and due proof that such minor, by reason of incorrigible behavior or vicious conduct, has become beyond the control of his parents, guardians or custodians.

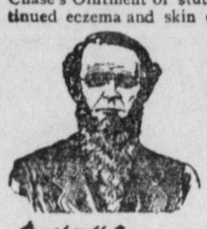
Eczema for Forty Years.

The Unqualified Statement of a Well Known Attorney, St. Ignace, Mich.

Some of the cures made by Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment of stubborn and long continued eczema and skin diseases are causing much comment. People are beginning to realize that this Ointment is a wonder worker with all kinds of skin trouble. Attorney Jas. J. Brown, St. Ignace, Michigan, writes as follows



Dr. A. W. Chase Med. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.—Gents:—I cannot refrain from expressing my acknowledgment for the relief I have felt from Dr. Chase's Ointment. For 40 years I was afflicted with a skin disease which was located in one spot—on my leg. I have spent at a rough estimate five hundred dollars trying to effect a cure, and not until I applied this ointment did I get relief. You are strangers to me and this letter is prompted directly because I want to say and I feel as though I ought to say it. That Chase's Ointment has effected a complete cure of my affliction. Three boxes did the work on my leg. I was also suffering from itching piles and applied the ointment which gave the best of satisfaction by affording me rest at night and rapidly causing the disease to disappear. I have received such relief and comfort from the ointment that I cannot withhold expressing my gratitude. I was so long afflicted with the tortures of eczema. I feel now that I am cured, a word of recommendation is due from me.

Yours truly,
JAS. J. BROWN.

Dr. Chase's Ointment is sold at 50 cents a box at all dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase's Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

BATH OF THE ORANGE.

The Fruit Needs Much Grooming Before It Is Ready For Market.

Fresh from the tree an orange is still very much alive, with the oil cells expanded and the mystery of growth not yet suspended. Cut off from the sap supply, a change takes place. The skin draws closer to the pulp and gives off moisture that would cause sweating if the fruit were packed at once. But first these dust stained travelers must have a bath.

By the bushel, if only this were the land of the good old bushel basket, the newcomers are dumped into a long, narrow tank of water at one end of which is a big wheel with a tire of soft bristles. The wheel revolves so that the lower edge works in connection with another set of brushes in a smaller tank below, and the oranges, after bobbing about in the big tank, pass between the wet brushes and come out bright and clean.

This washer is a neat machine and does away with the more primitive yet picturesque method of hand washing.

At some of the smaller packing houses may still be seen groups of women, sometimes white, sometimes brown skinned, each with a tub of water and brush, scrubbing busily away at the yellow piles that never seem to grow less till the last hour of the day.

After their bath the oranges are spread out in the sun to dry on long, slanting racks. At the lower end they roll off into boxes, to be carried away to the warehouse for their rest.

An orange needs a deal of grooming, it would seem, before it is ready for market. The washing was not enough. There must be a brushing too. And after the days of curing the oranges are fed into a hopper which drops them single file on to a belt that runs between revolving cylindrical brushes, this for a smooth, shiny look.—Los Angeles Herald.

—Wesley Straub, of Castanea township, Clinton county, killed a blacksnake on Nittany mountain a few days ago, the skin of which measures five feet and eight inches. The snake put up a stiff fight, but Mr. Straub and his dog finally conquered it.

SPRINKLING WAGONS.

The Modern Ones a Big Improvement on the Old Style.

The modern sprinkling wagon is very different from the old timer. The chief improvement is in the spray head, which enables the driver to control the flow of water much better than the old style. Thus, whether it is a dirt or a macadam road or a stone paved or asphalted street, there can be supplied from the modern street sprinkler just the amount of water required to lay the dust in it without waste.

The spray head on each side has its own valve rod running to the driver's seat, with a step there for the foot. The driver can operate both heads at once, or he can run only one head. He can shut off one or open either one at pleasure. With this sort of wagon the expert driver leaves behind him dry crosswalks with perfectly defined limits, and when he comes to a carriage or a street car upon which he doesn't want to throw water he shuts off the flow on that side and keeps the other going. Sprinkling wagons are made in various sizes, ranging from 150 gallons to 1,000 gallons capacity. There are 20 sprinkling wagons sold in this country nowadays where there were was one sold only a few years ago. This great increase in their use is due in large measure to sanitary reasons, to the great extension of good roads and to the common desire for comfort.

Sprinkling wagons are used nowadays commonly in many smaller towns and villages where they were never thought of some years ago. And American sprinkling wagons are now found all over the world wherever sprinkling wagons are used.

They are exported to Australia, Cuba, Porto Rico, South America, South Africa and Europe. The modern sprinkling wagon that the traveler chances to see in Paris or Berlin or Hamburg came very likely from the same factory as the one he saw here before he left home going through his own home street.—New York Sun.

Only Axle Grease.

A corn doctor is said to have swindled the people of different towns in the western part of the state. He sells what is termed "Moore's Ointment," warranted to cure the worst kind of a corn in a few hours. The salve is nothing more than axle grease obtained at the various stores and wagon-making shops. The fakir has his pockets filled with small tin boxes labelled "Moore's Ointment." These boxes he fills with the axle grease and sells at fifty cents and one dollar, according to the size.—Lock Haven Democrat.

—John Isenberg, aged 20, of Graysville, this county, has lived since last Saturday with a broken neck. On that day he fell from a wagon and his whole body was paralyzed. The doctors said he had a paralytic stroke, but this week they made a further examination and found that his neck was broken.

Fly Danger

We are accustomed to regarding flies merely as annoying pests. We combat flies in a half-hearted manner because we do not realize the dangers they bring into our homes. Flies are the most active of all agents in the distribution of germ diseases. If people could but see the loads of germs and filth they carry, an unrelenting war of extermination would be waged.

We have all the effective weapons against flies. The cost is as nothing compared with the annoyance avoided, to say nothing of the safety and saving that their use may afford

ONE OF THE FINEST.

Bellefonte was favored on Monday afternoon by a visit from the Honorable Benjamin K. Focht, of Lewisburg. To this "Oily Gammon" Senator from the Union-Snyder-Northumberland district belongs in part the distinction of having introduced in the Senate the notorious railway franchise bills, whose enactment by the recent Legislature and unceremonious approval by the Governor provided the councils and Mayor of Philadelphia with the means for buncoing the city of Phildelphia out of millions of dollars worth of railway franchises.

The Honorable B. K. is a representative machine politician. Honest politics with its upright and honorable environments furnished this ambitious statesman (?) with too limited a field in which to adequately exercise his numerous and varied political accomplishments and as soon as he recognized the unlimited possibilities open to a politician of his peculiar stripe in the service of Quay and the machine he lost no time in enlisting under the banner of the gang and his exceptional fitness for machine manipulation soon placed him among the elect at the council table of the Boss.

It is appropriate to say in connection with our distinguished visitor that he has, since the passage of the franchise measures he kindly permitted to bear his name, gone extensively into the street railway business and several companies chartered by the State as a result of this favored machine legislation can boast of having him as a stockholder and director. Surely, the Honorable B. K. has dropped his line in profitable waters and at the same time has found political associations suited to his taste, and opportunities in harmony with his conception of practical politics. Ben Focht is as smooth a political proposition as has ever come over the pike and we predict that he is only at the threshold of a successful political career.

"THE BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN, Hastings' own organ, comes out advocating the return of William C. Heinle, Democrat, to the State Senate. There are three parties in Centre county—Republicans, Democrats and Bellefonters."—Philipsburg Ledger.

We do not recall having at anytime mentioned Senator Heinle's name in connection with his re-election to the State Senate. We have frequently made complimentary reference to his public service in the Senate because we believed that his course merited public commendation. We do not know that Senator Heinle contemplates a candidacy for re-election. If he does and secures the Democratic nomination it will behoove the Republican leaders of the district to exercise extreme caution in selecting his opponent and that will preclude the possibility of the choice falling upon the Philipsburg senatorial aspirant. The REPUBLICAN expects to support the Republican nominee for Senator next fall.

THE CANDIDATES.

In another column under the caption of "Political Announcements" appear the authorized notifications of the candidacy of Hon. William M. Allison, of Gregg township, and John M. Dale, Esq., of Bellefonte, for election as delegates to the Republican State convention and that of Col. Wilbur F. Reeder for election as Chairman of the Republican County Committee for the year 1902.

FOR many generations after the first bale of cotton raised in the United States was sent to market most of the cotton plantations of the country were east of the Mississippi. But now nearly one-half of the entire American crop of cotton comes from territory west of the river.

As long as we can annually sell Europe $739,000,000 worth of our farm products, as we did in 1900, there is no danger of any material falling off in our prosperity.

THE postman may himself wear a shirt waist, but he still delivers his mail in wrappers.

AGRICULTURAL POSSIBILITIES.

The era of agricultural independence for the United States is fast approaching in the opinion of Secretary Wilson, of the Department of Agriculture. It is his belief that the present fiscal year will be the most prosperous and successful in the history of the country as far as its agricultural interests are concerned. Within a year, says Mr. Wilson, the United States, in connection with its new possessions, will be raising almost every agricultural product that it uses, and when that condition is reached no commercial combination organized by the foreign nations will be able to prevail against us; while, on the other hand, the United States will be able, by the closing of its ports to the exportation of food supplies, to bring almost any nation of the globe to the famishing point.

The Government is earnestly striving to encourage the production of such agricultural products as are now purchased in foreign countries. The principal one is sugar, which comprises about one-fourth of the total importation of foreign product, and the Department of Agriculture is conducting experiments to ascertain in what sections of the country sugar can be raised to such an advantage as to make it unnecessary to bring in the foreign article. Secretary Wilson thinks that within a few years we shall produce all the sugar we require and be in position to ignore the foreign product.

Considerable success is attending the domestic production of tea and within a brief period, according to the judgment of the Secretary, our tea culture will be sufficient to meet the requirements of home consumption. Success has also attended domestic rice cultivation, and agricultural scientists under direction of the national government are now investigating the coffee industry in our insular possessions and hopes are entertained that we shall soon be able to spend at home the $50,000,000 or more annually paid by this country for coffee importation.

The United States purchases annually about $30,000,000 of rubber, and Secretary Wilson is the authority for the statement that our new territory aquisitions will ultimately furnish us with all the rubber we need.

The Secretary speaks most enthusiastically and with encouraging conviction of our agricultural future, and insists that we shall in time and at no great distance, produce within our own domain everything that goes upon our tables and upon our backs, and that then we shall be commercially and industrially independent of any and every foreign power. Secretary Wilson is one of our most experienced agriculturists and his opinion of our agricultural future, the fruit of careful research and patient study, is one that will command universal appreciation.

IN speaking of ex-Senator Cameron as a possible gubernatorial candidate, Senator Quay said that Mr. Cameron would be no more acceptable to the anti-machine element than Attorney General Elkin. Considering Elkin and his odoriferous record it seems to us that it is up to Mr. Cameron to ask Senator Quay to guess again and remove the reproach.

THE Democratic party in several States is wobbling around trying to patch up principles enough to make even a State campaign with. The Quay machine in Pennsylvania, has generously relieved Pennsylvania democracy of the necessity of gunning for issues.

IT is somewhat curious that when the tax on beer was doubled, and again when it was cut down, the same quantity was served for five cents. The reason is one of those mysteries that baffle human investigation.

MR. NATION, Carrie's lovey dovey, has gone to spend his declining years with his daughter. A natural inference would be that his declining years were spent with his wife, but perhaps his daughter also insists on his refusing treats.

OFF TO THE PHILIPPINES TO TEACH.

More than ordinary interest is attached to the preparations for the transportation of the 600 educational instructors who will sail from San Francisco on the government transport Thomas on July 23 for the Philippines. The incursion of so many teachers from the United States to Oriental parts is a distinctive innovation in the scholastic and educational history of this country.

The 600 teachers who have been selected from all over the country, will, immediately upon their arrival in the Philippines, get down to the work of teaching the Filipino youth his A, B, C's. At the beginning the teaching will be practically, as it is in this country, of the simplest and most primary nature.

It is intended that rising generations in the Philippines shall be given the opportunity to go through future life with the advantage of knowledge of the English language in their possession, for it is especially with that point in view that the pedagogues are being sent to the islands. It may be said that the future of the Philippines will largely depend upon the success of this educational movement.

Among this little army of educators bound for the Orient is one from our own town and county—Charles H. McClure who has just been graduated from Princeton after a college course of exceptional merit and distinction. If all the instructors for the Philippines are of Mr. McClure's intellectual capacity and high moral character it can be said that the government has secured for its educational development of the Filipinos the best product of American educational institutions.

A FLOOD TIDE OF PATRIOTISM IN KANSAS.

The boast comes from Kansas that no soldier was ever drafted from that State into the service of the army. February 15, 1865, a draft actually commenced in Kansas and was continued until March 16, when a peremptory order came from Washington to suspend the draft and release the men who had been conscripted. This order came in response to official protests from Kansas in which the fact was set forth that the State had furnished more troops in proportion to her population than any other State in the Union. The spirit of patriotism in the land of Carrie Nation and Jerry Simpson seemingly was as strong and general as was that of populism over a quarter of a century later.

EX-SENATOR DAVID B. HILL, of New York, admits to intimate friends that he means to make a try for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency in 1904 and Mr. William Jennings Bryan, of Nebraska, whose chances for a third entry in the presidential sweepstakes are being ruthlessly dissipated by rebellious Democracy, drops the hint to intimate friends that he will do his best to put David B. out of business. When the time comes to lock horns William J. will doubtless realize that his best will but prove the futility of his effort. Democracy has had enough of Bryanism.

THE Supreme Court, having enlarged the Executive's veto power, has given Governor Stone an easy job in reducing the legislative appropriations several million dollars. He can cut and slash at his own sweet will and he can be trusted to do so, too, so long as he can reduce without tampering with the appropriations that carry rake offs for the gang.

THE new Kansas law, authorizing county attorneys to summon and examine witnesses as to their knowledge of violations of the liquor law, has been declared unconstitutional.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent.

Washington, July 17th, 1901.

Secretary Gage and other Treasury officials have been surprised by the receipt from internal revenue for the first half of this month. It was naturally expected that the reductions which went into effect the first of the month would make the receipts considerably smaller than for the corresponding period last year, but instead of that, they have been a little larger every day and for the half month in round figures, $1,000,000 greater than for the first half of July last year. Some think that this may be accounted for by the fact that changes were made in a number of classes of revenue stamps, and that large users allowed their supply to entirely run out by the first of the month, and have, consequently, purchased large quantities since then. Whatever the cause, the receipts have been larger when they were expected to be smaller.

Secretary Hitchcock takes no stock in the numerous stories of the intended crooked use of the names of soldiers and sailors by land speculators in entering claims for homesteads in the Oklahoma Indian Reservation. He is confident that the regulations will make it impossible for such crookedness to be carried on to a sufficient extent to make it pay, and his advices from Oklahoma indicate that the stories are largely imaginary.

Representative Hepburn, who is in Washington on business, says that Senator Allison was in dead earnest when he started that Presidential boom for Governor Shaw, of Iowa; that the republicans of Iowa are solidly behind Governor Shaw and will present his name to the National Convention, although they fully recognize the handicap that the big and certain republican majority always given by the state will be to him, owing to the natural tendency of conventions to give greater consideration to close and doubtful states in choosing a candidate.

It was highly complimentary to Consul General Stowe, who recently tendered his resignation because of his inability to live at Cape Town, South Africa, on the salary of the office, $5,000-for the large merchants of that city to unite in a petition to the Department of State, asking that Mr. Stowe's resignation be not accepted, and pledging themselves to pay him enough, in addition to his official salary, to enable him to live as he should, but Secretary Hay promptly informed the signers of the petition that this government could not allow a consular officer to be paid from private sources. Congress fixes the consular salaries. It may be remarked in this connection that the German Consul General at Cape Town receives $10,000 a year more salary than Mr. Stowe, for precisely the same class of work.

Representative Cannon, of Ills., who is hustling in Washington for his constituents, says he hasn't made up his mind whether to become the fourth candidate for the Senate in his state-Senator Mason, Comptroller Dawes and Mr. M. B. Maddlen, are already in the field. Asked what he thought of the Presidential outlook, Mr. Cannon said: "It is too early to talk with any certainty. The only thing that seems to be certain is that it will be an old-fashioned sort of convention, with the result uncertain until after the delegates have assembled and some ballots have been taken. No man, at present, appears to be a popular idol, and I do not think anything is likely to occur which will give any one person a commanding position in the race. There are any number of men willing to say "Here I am, Oh Lord, take me," but which of them will be chosen I shall not undertake to predict." Mr. Cannon disposed of the cock and bull story alleging the existence of a conspiracy among republican members of the House, to prevent the re-election of Speaker Henderson, by saying, "All such talk is absolute rot."

The appointment of Mr. A. B. Kittredge by the Governor of South Dakota to fill the vacancy made by the death of Senator Kyle, has been well received in Washington. Although Mr. Kittredge is only 40 years old, he has been regarded for some years as the leader of the republican party in South Dakota, and is known to have been largely instrumental in restoring his state to the republican column.

Consul General Mason, at Berlin, in a report to the Department of State, called attention to the tricks of German custom officials to injure American trade in Germany, especially that in manufactured articles. He cites two instances, in which a change of tariff classification has resulted in a practical prohibition of the importation of two American articles—a snap hook, which had been imported for years under a duty of $2.38 per 100 kilograms, which was reclassed and put at $5.71, more than double; and ice cream freezers, which were changed from $2.38 per 100 kilograms to $7.14. He advises American manufacturers to ascertain by actual shipments how articles are to be classed before contracting to deliver large quantities in Germany.

Mr. John C. Freely, of Scranton, Pa., who has just returned from a semi-business tour of Great Britain, said while in Washington; "The sale of American Agricultural implements is increasing every day in Europe. The people who do the buying over there are as sensible as any other people on earth. They don't buy our plows and hay rakes and steel rails just because they are American, but because they are really the best in the world and far cheaper in the long run than the best articles made elsewhere."

DR. HARTMAN'S ADVICE

Is Sought by Female Sufferers From Ocean to Ocean.

Mrs. F. W. Goulder, 1308 Fourth avenue, Rock Island, Illinois, writes:

"I was afflicted for five or six years with catarrhal difficulties and was growing worse all the time. I began taking your Peruna with a marked improvement from the first. Independent of curing that, the Peruna has greatly improved my general health."

"Every bottle of Peruna is worth its weight in gold; especially to me, for I owe my present good health to it."

All over the country there are women who have been invalids for many years, suffering with female derangements.

What a boon to such women is Dr. Hartman's free advice! So famous has his skill made him that hardly a hamlet or town in the country but knows his name. He cures tens of thousands, and he offers to every woman who will write to him her symptoms and a history of her trouble, free advice and treatment.

The medicines he prescribes can be obtained at any drug store, and the cost is within the reach of any woman. He describes minutely and carefully just what she shall do and get to make a healthy, robust woman of herself.

Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio, for a free copy of "Health and Beauty."

The Shipmaster's Cow.

A certain farmer is telling mean things about a Rockland shipmaster. "The shipmaster," he says, "bought a cow of a man down my way; good critter—nothin the matter with her. But it seems the captain's wife one day thought the milk tasted funny and segested that p'raps she'd been eatin spruce boughs; said the milk tasted like spruce. And what does he do but go out in the pasture to watch the cow, to see what she did eat. The cow was layin down, chewin her cud, and he went erlong and run his finger in her mouth to see what she was eatin. Then he was mad. He put a rope on the cow and started off with her. He met a neighbor, who says, 'Where are you goin with the cow?' 'Goin to take her back to the feller that sold her to me. He's cheated me, and I won't stand it.'

"The man wanted to know what was the matter, and he went on to tell about it and says: 'She wasn't eatin boughs, but she was chewin gum; that's what's the matter with the milk and makes it taste like spruce. And,' he says, 'that ain't all. She's so addicted to the habit that she's worn all her teeth out. She ain't got an upper tooth in her head. Back she goes, quick.'

"Of course, the man told him that it was all nonsense—that cows never had no upper teeth. But he didn't believe a word of it and went on and had a tarnal row with the man that sold him the cow. Guess he was never satisfied about it or knew what a darned fool he was makin of himself."—Rockland (Me.) Opinion.

Generous Great Britain.

Britain's "earth hunger" is a common sneer on the continent, but look at what we have given away without the least reason!

We took the Ionian islands in 1809 and handed them over to Greece for nothing about 50 years afterward. Corsica shows George III as its king, but we abandoned it three years later, and the French naturally grabbed it.

Tangier came to us by the marriage of Charles II. We abandoned it at the end of 22 years.

We took Cuba in 1762 and handed it back to the Spaniards, after holding it for 10 months. We took the Philippines and returned them to the same country for £800,000—which was never paid.

Here is a short list of other places which we once held and gave up without compulsion: Minorca, Sicily, Sardinia, Buenos Ayres, Montevideo, Java, Pondicherry, Celebes, Moluccas, Elba and about 50 other places.

We took Cape Colony in 1795, but gave it up again to the Dutch. In 1806 we took it again—and kept it.—London Standard.

Missed His Guess.

An American who was sojourning in Spain at the time says that on the day when Dewey was destroying the Spanish squadron at Manila a representative audience, including some of Spain's bravest and best, were attending a patriotic bullfight in Madrid, applauding these words of the famous matadore: "With the ease with which I have killed this noble animal, the bull, will the glorious Spanish nation uphold the traditions of the past and keep green the laurels of their illustrious fathers by triumphing over the Yankee pig."

BANDS FOR PAN-AMERICAN.

Their Music Will Be a Great Feature of the Exposition at Buffalo.

Arrangements have already been made for the appearance at the Pan-American Exposition of some of the most famous bands of the American Continent. Throughout the season, from May 1 to Nov. 1, concerts will be given daily in various parts of the Exposition grounds by these bands, and the variety of musical entertainment thus afforded will be a notable feature of the Exposition. Prominent among the organizations engaged is Sousa's Band, which is known wherever there are lovers of music and whose success in the rendition of military music has been remarkable.

The most notable achievement in the history of international events was perhaps the triumphal tour made by Sousa and his band through Europe, extending from April to September, 1900. It was 22 years since an American band had been heard on the European Continent, and so emphatic was the success of the American conductor and composer that the tour became a series of ovations throughout France, Germany, Belgium and Holland. It was the official band at the Paris Exposition.

The Mexican Government Mounted Band has been engaged to give concerts during the Exposition.

Fanciulilli's Seventy-first Regiment Band of New York has been engaged for a series of concerts during the season. This band has also a great reputation for its rendition of military music, and it followed Sousa's Band in the concerts at Manhattan Beach.

Canada will be represented by several bands, among them the famous Thirteenth Regiment Band of Hamilton, which is the crack band music organization of lower Canada.

The Elgin Band of Elgin, Ills., which stands very high in that state, has also been engaged.

Another well known band is the Carlisle Indian Band, which made a great hit in Washington and New York City.

When the Ancient and Honorable Artillery of Boston made their recent notable tour in Europe, they were accompanied by the Salem (Mass.) Cadet Band, which contributed much to the success of the tour. This band will also be heard at the Pan-American Exposition.

The Brooks Chicago Marine Band, E B. Brooks conductor, which is considered by many the best in Chicago, will be heard.

Another band engaged is the Ithaca Band of Ithaca, N. Y., which is backed by E. N. Truman, one of the wealthy men of that section. It has achieved a great reputation in the central part of New York State.

The Boston Ladies' Military Band, which has been before the public for two or three years and made a pronounced success, has been engaged. It is spoken of highly by musical people in Boston.

Besides these bands from other portions of the United States, the best bands of Buffalo have been engaged for the Exposition, including the well known Seventy-fourth Regiment Band and the Sixty-fifth Regiment Band, which saw service at Camp Alger during the Spanish-American war.

Another band of Buffalo is Scinta's Band, a strong organization.

These local bands have been strengthened to the number of 33 men each, and the leaders claim to have put them in a very fine condition, so that Buffalo need not be ashamed of the performances they will give during the progress of the great Exposition.

This is not a complete list of the bands which will be heard at the Pan-American, but simply shows the character of the entertainment to be provided.

Minerals at the Pan-American.

Minerals will be fully represented, comprising every production, both useful and ornamental, mined from the earth. All parts of the United States and every country of South and Central America, Canada, Mexico and the islands of the sea will contribute specimens for the exhibit. All kinds of machinery used in manipulating ores will be exhibited. The great advantages that the Americas have over the rest of the world in the wealth of their minerals in connection with climatic conditions, accessibility, etc., will be clearly illustrated. While the exhibits will be under the auspices of the various Governments, many individuals and mining companies will be represented by individual displays, representing their special interests.

Mexican Appointment.

The Mexican ministry of fomento (encouragement) has appointed as Mexican representative of the Pan-American Exposition Engineer Albino R. Nuncio, who was until his appointment chief of the second section in the aforesaid ministry.

RAINBOW CITY.

Pan-American Exposition Aglow With Beautiful Colors.

Perhaps nothing has been more talked about than the color scheme of the Pan-American. It was a daring thing to attempt to array in colors the extensive buildings of this Exposition, for scarcely any precedent existed for such an undertaking, and to attempt it and fail would be disastrous indeed. It was out of the question to duplicate the White City at Chicago. Something absolutely new must be devised for the Pan-American at Buffalo. Happily the Spanish renaissance architecture furnished the hint for the solution of this problem, and now that it has been solved and the color scheme is seen to be so well adapted to the purposes of exposition architecture it is realized that a new discovery has been made. With the buildings arrayed in colors which will harmonize with the general scheme of the Exposition and please rather than offend artistic taste, the Rainbow City cannot fail to become popular in a degree scarcely hoped for by those who planned its construction

The Director of Color, Mr. Charles Y Turner, N. A., of New York City, studied the requirements of the situation and in his studio in New York by means of models carefully worked out the designs and drawings for the mural decoration. The experts experimented with paint and obtained an article that may be used without fear that it will lose its staying qualities before the Exposition is over. The test already made shows that the paint after being once applied to the staff is going to hold its color well.

RARE COMBINATION.

The Floral and Electrical Display at the Pan-American Exposition.

There is a saying that "Flowers are the poetry of earth, as stars are the poetry of heaven." If this be true, the beauty of the floral effects to be seen at the Pan-American Exposition will be pronounced as a rare combination of both, for never yet at an exposition have such magnificent effects been seen as will be visible in some of the fountain basins at the Pan-American. There beautiful plants and flowers, kissed to a state of dewy dazzlement by the falling spray and the glow of concealed incandescent lamps, will delight the visitor.

At the exposition in Omaha some little success was obtained in thus lighting up the flowers and the foliage of plants in the water basins, and this has led Henry E. Rustin, chief of the mechanical and electrical bureau, to attempt to enlarge upon what he accomplished in Omaha. When thus lighted, the flowers and plants take upon themselves new colors, each one seemingly more beautiful than the color displayed under full sunlight. Then the little mystery of where the illumination comes from is delightful, and, knowing this, the skilled electrician is most careful to conceal his lamps where least likely to attract the eye. Perhaps an artificial leaf, an artificial flower, is used to hide the lamp, but its full brilliancy is allowed to beam upon the plant and flowers, making a picture that is lasting. It is when such effects are obtained that the full appreciation of enjoyment is expressed in the single word "beautiful." It was so at Omaha, and it will be more so at the Pan-American.

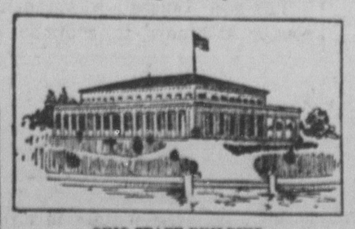
Automobiles at Exposition.

The automobile has been developed since the Columbian Exposition at Chicago. What marvels may be exhibited and in practical daily use at the Pan-American Exposition can only be dimly conjectured. The railway, vessel and vehicle exhibits at Buffalo this year will outrival in interest anything that has been possible in the past.

In 1881 the largest arc light machine made supplied current for 16 lights, and when Mr. Brush made a 50 light machine it was a giant. In the electrical exhibits of the Pan-American Exposition the largest type of Brush arc light machine will be shown, and this will afford interesting comparison with the machines of 20 years ago.

The Ohio Building.

The Ohio State building has a prominent place at the Pan-American Exposition to be held in Buffalo next summer. The design is plain Grecian



OHIO STATE BUILDING.

Doric, the beauty of which lies mainly in its classic proportions and commanding position. It is designed exclusively for social purposes and will be the rendezvous of Ohio visitors to the Exposition.

THE HONEYBEE.

Its Curious Jaws and Its Wonderful Little Tongue.

With the closest scrutiny it becomes evident that the bee does not, like other creatures, house its tongue in its mouth, but neatly folds it back beneath its head. Bumblebees, when disturbed, have a way of threatening with their jaws, while the honeybee has the more direct method of settling intruders with her sting.

The jaws of the bee are very creditable organs and can give quite a formidable nip. Catch a bee in a net and see how viciously it will bite at the meshes, working its jaws sideways instead of up and down.

We call this wonderful implement of the bee a tongue, but in reality it is more than this, for the whole arrangement consists of two slender filaments called maxillæ, the under lip and the actual tongue. If a drop of honey lies near the surface of a flower, the slender, active tongue, darting out from the case formed by the maxillæ, licks it up with the same ease that a dog licks a plate. Should the tube of the flower be elongated the bee has at command another length of tongue, which is shot out from within and shuts up like a telescope when no longer wanted.

To appreciate fully this delicate organ you should watch the bee separate it into its component parts and clean it out. The lengthening process of the proboscis, as the tongue and its allied parts are sometimes called, is accomplished by a series of springs and hinges. In addition to this telescoping power, the tongue is a hairy member, the hairs arranged in rings, the longest ones toward the center. They assist in lifting in the nectar and in pumping it into the mouth. Thence it goes to the honey sack.—Chautauquan.

PITH AND POINT.

Very few people want to know the truth unless it fits their prejudice.

Every one who doesn't like you is looking for a chance to laugh at you.

A great deal of nerve is sometimes necessary to keep from being cranky.

You know a whole lot if you know enough to know you don't know anything.

When a boy is not invited to a party, he hangs around the outside to see how things are going.

When a dressmaker makes a quilt out of silk scraps, the women begin to look at her with suspicion.

Every one is some kind of a sinner. The employee too honest to take a postage stamp will steal his employer's time.

Be sensible with your children. When you want them to do a thing, tell them why. Don't tell them they must do it or take a beating, or that they must do it because you say so.—Atchison Globe.

An Undesirable Boarder.

Some time ago the keeper of a boarding house retired from business after having acquired a comfortable competency in the course of about 20 years. During that period her house became well known in the city and among the women in her own business. She never realized how well known it was until she set out to find a place to live in herself.

She applied first at the house kept by a woman nearly as well known as herself only to learn that there was no room for her. It was not until she had been through the same experience several times that she came to understand that she was not wanted in the establishments of her former rivals. Her reputation for keeping a fine house was too much for the other women, who did not want to submit to the scrutiny of a former boarding house keeper who had made a reputation and a fortune in the business.

She learned, after going to a hotel where her record could not be used against her, that she was not the only woman who had found it difficult to get into a boarding house after having kept one of her own. When they are well known, it is practically impossible for such women to find quarters, for whatever her reasons may be the landlady does not like to shelter her kind.—New York Sun.

Old Militia Elections and New.

From the American Revolution to the year 1823 the officers of the militia of the state of New York had been appointed by the council of appointment upon the recommendation of commanding officers of divisions, brigades and regiments, and the promotions were generally made according to rank and seniority. Under the new constitution and the militia law of 1823, and in accordance with the democratic spirit of the period, the election of military officers became the established usage and has continued until the present day. The election of officers in 1823 and following year was attended with considerable ceremony—officers attending them in full uniform, and noncommissioned officers and privates in undress uniform.—Clark's History.

Unselfish.

"So you proposed to Miss Chillers?"

"Yes," answered Willie Washington.

"You must have known she would reject you."

"Of course. But it is an old saying that women can't keep a secret, and I was afraid she would get to comparing notes. I had proposed to all the other girls, and I didn't want her to feel slighted."—Washington Star.

An Outrage.

Mrs. Jones—Are you aware, Mrs. Skinbone, that your dog has just bitten my little Willie?

Mrs. Skinbone—What, your Willie, who has only just got over scarlet fever? Oh, Mrs. Jones, if anything should happen to Fido I'd never forgive you.

Noncooking Restaurants.

Odd as it may appear to dwellers in small cities, some of the down town restaurants of New York are in buildings in which no cooking is allowed. Some of the busiest of the midday restaurants purchase all their meats and stews already cooked and merely heat them through again before serving them to patrons. This branch of the restaurant business has reached such proportions that the mere operation of cooking for such places has become an established business, and owners of ovens thrive at it.—New York Sun.

Artificial Stone.

Quarrymen and stone dressers will probably be gradually crowded out of their occupation by the use of artificial stone. In the manufacture of this stone the sand is heated and the cement added to the amount of 12 per cent of the mixture. The steel molds are filled with the dry material and moved into an immense cylinder, which is closed and bolted. Boiling water is then turned in under pressure sufficient to force it all through the sand in the molds. The cement slacks, but the steel molds do not permit any expansion to occur, and the stone is formed and dried under an immense pressure. The result is a very hard stone, which can be supplied in shapes desired and much cheaper than the natural stone.

The first balloon ascent took place in the year 1783.

We are authorized to announce the name of Col. Wilbur F. Reeder, of Bellefonte, Penn., as a candidate for Chairman of the Republican County Committee for the year 1902, subject to the rules of the Republican Party.

It has been suggested that possibly the lightning bug "blunders through existence with its head-light on behind" in order to prevent rear end collisions.

The Pan-American exhibits include a 122-pound potato, and a $35,000 "plum." The latter is the property of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It is the State building. The outside cost of the building has been placed at $7,500 by those who are competent authority. The difference between the actual cost and the price paid by the State constitutes the "plum." It is of a variety highly in favor among a preferred class of Pennsylvanians and its propagation has been assiduously looked after by one Quay and his corps of assistants.

THE TALE OF A DOG.

A TRUTHFUL NARRATIVE OF CANINE TENACITY AND SAGACITY.

As the Story of the Feat Was Related by a Preacher Who Was a Party to the Incident No Further Testimony Is Necessary.

A certain Nashville statesman is about one of the best story tellers in Tennessee, and his repertoire includes a lot of good ones, fish and otherwise. On the truthfulness of some he will stake his reputation for veracity, but he tells one which he always prefixes with the statement that it was told him by a minister of the gospel, Dr. Bardwell, who will be remembered here by the older inhabitants as the assistant of Dr. Edgar of revered memory, who was pastor of the First Presbyterian church during the latter years of General Andrew Jackson's life and attended the old hero in his last illness. The story teller said:

"Dr. Bardwell used to visit my father's house when I was a boy, and the story I am about to tell you was related to me on the occasion of one of these visits. We were out on the veranda smoking one evening after supper. The doctor was fond of dogs and was a pretty good sportsman and naturally the conversation turned on this subject.

"'Speaking of dogs,' said Dr. Bardwell, 'reminds me of a dog which belonged to a friend of mine in Mississippi. I had been invited to hold services at a church near this friend's house and wrote him to meet me at the station, some six miles from his house, on the Saturday afternoon before Sunday, the day of the appointment.

"'He was oh time with horses, and we started to his home. I noticed that a very handsome bird dog followed us, and, having heard that some one in that neighborhood owned an especially well trained trick dog, I asked my friend about it.

"'"That's the dog," at the same time pointing at his dog, which had run ahead of us and was waiting at the forks of the road.

"'I asked him to make him perform a trick. He got down from his horse, called the dog and, taking out his pocketbook, held it to the dog's nose. He then took out a silver half dollar and, walking some distance into the woods, raised up a large rock and put the money under it. We then resumed our journey, and when probably half a mile away my friend called his dog and told him to go back and get the money.

"'The dog, without the least hesitation, started back on a run, and, my friend explained, as the rock was heavy the dog would be unable to turn it over, so would have to scratch under it to reach the piece of money, and he would not probably get home before we reached there, it then being about three miles farther on to his house.

"'However, when we reached home the dog was not there. We ate supper, and still the dog did not come, nor had he put in an appearance when we retired at about 10 o'clock.

"'The next morning we got up about daylight, and, hearing a noise outside, my friend opened the door, and the dog rushed in dragging with him a pair of pantaloons, which he dropped on the floor.

"'Of course we were both mystified, but had not long to wait an explanation, for shortly afterward a man who lived several miles from my friend's house rode up on a mule and inquired if a dog with a pair of pantaloons in his mouth had come into the house. The dog at this moment came out on the porch, and the man said, "Why, there's the dog now."

"'My friend told his caller that the dog had really brought a pair of pantaloons home with him, but he did not understand it himself.

"'The man said that late in the afternoon the day before he found the dog scratching under a large rock near the road and, thinking he was after a rabbit, stopped and lifted the rock up, and, to his surprise, found a half dollar on the underside.

"'He put the money in his pocket, and the dog followed him home. The dog appeared to be friendly, and the man petted him and gave him his supper. At night when the family retired the dog was put on the outside, but he kept up such a racket that no one could sleep on the place, and when the man opened the door to drive the dog off he rushed into his bedroom and at once became very quiet, lying down near the foot of the bed, where he slept all night.

"'Early in the morning, the man said, he got up and opened the window, and the instant he did so the dog seized his pantaloons in his mouth and, jumping out of the window, fled.

"The man followed as soon as he could get his mule.

"'Hearing this story, my friend got the pantaloons and on searching the pockets found the half dollar which he had hid under the rock the afternoon before.'"—Nashville Banner.

Figs.

After figs have been collected they are dipped in boiling brine and then dried on trays for from two to four days, according to the weather. The dipping is supposed to bring the sugar to the surface and hasten the drying. After being dried the figs are placed in "sweat boxes," holding 2,000 pounds each, where they remain for two weeks. Then they are washed in cold salt water to remove all dirt and are packed by women and girls in half pound, one pound and ten pound boxes in layers, being split preliminarily with a short bladed knife.

Lake Morat, in Switzerland, has the curious property of turning red every ten years owing to the presence of certain aquatic plants which are not known in any other lake in the world.

SIGNALING TO MARS.

The Difficulty of Doing So by Means of Light.

The very largest city that this earth has ever known would be altogether too small to be visible to a being dwelling on the planet Mars, even if that being were endeavoring to see it with a telescope as powerful as the greatest and most perfect instrument in any observatory on this globe.

If the whole extent of Lake Superior was covered with petroleum and if that petroleum was set on fire, then, I think, we may admit that an inhabitant of Mars who was furnished with a telescope as good as that which Percival Lowell uses at Flagstaff might be able to see that something had happened. But we must not suppose that the mighty conflagration would appear to the Martian as a very conspicuous object. It would, rather, be a very small feature, but still I think it would not be beyond the reach of a practiced observer in that planet.

On the other hand, if an area the size of Lake Superior on Mars was to be flooded with petroleum and that petroleum was to be kindled, we should expect to witness the event from here not as a great and striking conflagration, but as a tiny little point of just discernible light. The disk of Mars is not a large object, and the conflagration would not extend over the three hundredth part of that disk.

It is sufficient to state these facts to show that the possibility of signaling to Mars is entirely beyond the power of human resources.—Sir Robert S. Ball in Independent.

BLUNDERS IN FICTION.

The Queer Mistakes That Are Sometimes Made by Authors.

We smile as we read and pass swiftly by the stories of maidens that wander in "lonely woods" at unearthly hours of night, always clad in "a soft, white clinging gown." Now, every girl knows that the average maiden is too much afraid of tramps and snakes to wander in "lonely woods." The weather, too, appears to perplex our novelists, for not infrequently they begin a chapter at dawn, there are a few moments' conversation, and then the "sun sets in lurid banks behind the distant empurpled mountains."

I am reminded at the outset of an English story written by an author of repute where the heroine in one scene was made on one page to stoop down and tie her shoestring, while three pages farther on, directly following, it was said of the same girl that she had remained barefooted the entire day. In another story a blind woman is made to view the hero through spectacles before the tale is ended.

In a French novel—and we generally consider French such literary masters—a heroine is clearly made to go direct from her bed to the breakfast table, out shopping, to an afternoon tea and to dinner in her robe de nuit! Cousins suddenly transformed into brothers without a moment's warning are numerous in this detective's library. Thus one is amused to find the most marvelous mistakes in books which we think we have carefully read.—Modern Culture.

Golf In the Old Days.

Centuries back golf was a pastime of the royal family, though then usually played in Scotland. The Stuart family was very fond of the game, and the first English club was established at Blackheath in 1608 by James I. His eldest son, Henry, frequently played and on one occasion nearly struck by accident his tutor with a club, whereupon he coolly remarked, "Had I done so I had but paid my debts." Charles I was playing golf when he received the news of the Irish rebellion. James, duke of York, afterward James II, was another ardent player. Golf is frequently mentioned in ancient Scottish records and in the fifteenth century was prohibited because it interfered with the practice of archery. Strutt considered it the most ancient game at ball requiring a bat.—London Chronicle.

The Squirrel Hunter's Weapon.

The cream of squirrel hunting is enjoyed by the man who uses a light rifle of small caliber and medium power. The ".22 long" as now turned out by our leading makers is an excellent weapon—in fact, the best in the world for the purpose. Though not of sufficient range to be dangerous to people or stock at a distance, it throws lead with surprising accuracy to the tops of the tallest trees. Good rifle shots always aim for the squirrel's head both to add to the difficulty of the sport and to avoid spoiling meat. And be it known that a squirrel's head at a range of 40 or 50 yards is no easy mark. If a reader doubts this, let him go to the woods for a day, keep all empty shells, and at the end of the day let him try to make the dead squirrels and the empty shells tally.—E. W. Sandys in Outing.

Early Birds.

The green finch is the earliest riser. It pipes as early as half past 1 in the morning. The blackcap begins at half past 2. It is nearly 4 o'clock before the blackbird appears. It is heard half an hour before the thrush, and the chirp of the robin begins about the same length of time before that of the wren. The house sparrow and the tomtit take the last stage of the list.

Advantages of Port Cities.

The revenue New York derives from the rental of piers to the Cunard, the White Star, the American, the Atlantic Transport, the French, the Leyland, the National and other lines is nearly $1,000,000 annually. The White Star line pays the largest rental, $217,000; the Cunard line is next with $120,000 and the American line third with $88,400.—Ainslee's.

THE RAILROAD SCARE

ODD EFFECTS OF THE FIRST SIGHT OF A LOCOMOTIVE.

Some of the People of the South Hid Behind Trees In 1833, When the Iron Horse Went By—The Country's Earliest Railroad.

America cannot lay claim to the first locomotive or the first railroad. That great honor lies with England. Yet Yankee genius was not very far behind her, for, when George Stephenson launched his first real locomotive, the Rocket, on the Liverpool and Manchester road in 1829, the first spike had been driven on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, July 4, 1828, by Charles Carroll of Carrollton, the last surviving signer of the Declaration of Independence. This was the first road started in the United States, and in 1830 it had reached Ellicott Mills, 13 miles from Baltimore.

But the south can claim the honor of completing the longest railroad in the world at that date, being the old Charleston and Hamburg road, now a part of the South Carolina and Georgia system, which was begun in 1830, and by October, 1833, it had 137 miles of track in operation. In a letter from Mr. Samuel C. Clarke of Georgia, a kinsman of the writer, who attained the extreme age of 91 years and who had seen the beginning and the completion of this road, he thus gives his experience upon first sight of a locomotive:

"One day while going down to Charleston with a party of gentlemen to attend the races as we approached the city we saw in the distance the new railroad, finished some 10 or 12 miles out of Charleston. It was built upon piles, longer or short, according to the nature of the ground. Sometimes in crossing a ravine the rails were 20 feet from the surface. Our track ran near this elevated road, and soon a horrid shriek as from 20 panthers was heard in the woods. By this time we were nervous. Elephants and lions we had heard of, and some of us had seen them, but what monster was this whose screams we heard? Presently it came in sight, flying aloft through the air and breathing fire and smoke, and our frightened steeds became unmanageable, and in fact I think that some of our party were as badly frightened as their horses. If any of my readers are old enough to remember the introduction of locomotives and how they felt at first sight of them, they will perhaps understand our sensations that day in the pine woods.

"A mile or two farther on we came to a broken wagon by the side of the road, and near it sat a Georgia cracker smoking his pipe. On being asked what was his trouble he replied, 'Well, stranger, I've often hearn tell of nullification, and now I reckon I've saw it for true.'"

It is somewhat amusing now to read of the superstitious dread with which the inhabitants looked upon the building of these first railroads. Some thought the smoke of the continual passing trains would cause a pestilence or destroy all the crops along the road. Others were afraid to ride on the cars for fear of having their breath taken away, and the people in the cities objected to the railroad being built because they feared the smoke from the engines would soil the clothes which were hung out to dry.

Many are yet living who looked upon the terrible, screeching iron monster with awe and trepidation. Mr. Nat McGee of Ivy, Albemarle, tells a joke upon himself that when he heard the train coming he jumped from his horse and got behind a tree, where he viewed it for fear of being run over. Mr. W. T. Prout, who was taking a wagon load of produce to Richmond, when he reached Gordonville heard the whistle and terrible noise of the approaching train, and he and his companions were so scared that they sprang out, leaped the fence and ran across the field to a safe distance, leaving the wagon and team to its fate, but when the train appeared it was only an engine and one coach.

The first roadbeds were formed, as has been stated, by driving piles in the ground, upon the top of which were placed wooden stringers, in which were cut a groove for the wheels to run. These were called "wooden railroads" and at a distance appeared like the elevated railroads in the cities of the present day. The honor of this invention was contested between John Hartman of Scottsville, Va., and John Williams, an engineer of Ohio, but it did not prove a bonanza to either, for the wheels were constantly bouncing out of the groove, and the piles soon after gave place to solid dirt embankments, and strap iron rails were substituted for the wooden groove. But the grading was very imperfect and uneven, which made riding on one of these primitive railroads like going over a corduroy road in a springless wagon, with the cars bouncing over these rough rails to the jingling music of the windows.—Richmond Dispatch.

Do Carpets Shorten Life?

Just think what a horrible receptacle of unclean things the carpet is in the rich English or French house! Where there are carpets, people should on entering be given slippers, as in the Netherlands, or the footbath, as at a Turkish mosque. Making servants sweep carpets is another proof that evil is wrought for want of thought. Flourens attributed the prevalence of lung and throat diseases in England to carpeted rooms.—London Truth.

A VERY CURIOUS BIRD.

The One Young Mark Twain Sprung Upon the Scientists.

Mark Twain's father was an ornithologist. He had several friends who were also enthusiasts on the subject of birds. Whenever any one of them discovered a rara avis it was the custom to have a consultation. Mark had been a witness of several of these bird inquests and had noted the delight the old men took in discussing a new found specimen. One day it occurred to him to provide the Hannibal ornithologists with a real circus in the form of a bird. He killed a crow and also a barnyard rooster. Plucking out the tail feathers of both the crow and the rooster, he substituted the rooster's tail feathers for those of the crow, producing a unique effect. When he had the specimen nicely prepared, he went to his father and, handing it to him, said:

"Here, father, is a very curious bird I shot. I thought you would be interested in it."

The old gentleman gazed upon the specimen with astonishment. That evening the ornithologists of Hannibal were assembled in Mr. Clemens' parlor. The rare specimen was put before them. The discussion was long and learned. The opinions expressed were various. One thought the bird was an offshoot of the bird of paradise family; others had equally ridiculous notions as to its ancestry. But there was one who refused to be swerved by the peculiarity of the bird's tail from the judgment that it was of the crow family.

"Why, just look here," he said, lifting the bird by its tail feathers. He got no further. The feathers came out. There was a quick closing of a door. Mr. Clemens started to leave the room.

"Gentlemen," he said, "please excuse me a few moments. I will see Samuel first and explain later."

EATING FISH.

It is not good form to ask for a second helping of fish.

It is considered extremely bad form to use a knife in dissecting fish.

A little modern fish knife, with an ingenious fork arrangement on one side, is now made.

A bit of lemon is served with broiled and baked fish, and it is in correct form to use the fingers in expressing the juice.

Potatoes are considered a proper accessory to the fish course.

Sliced cucumbers, with plain French dressing, are also served.

With a boiled fish the potatoes are also usually boiled, cut into bits or scooped out and garnished with a little melted butter and chopped parsley.

Never use the fingers to separate the bones from the eatable portion of fish. The bones must be evaded with such dexterity as one can command without other aid than such as a bit of bread held in the left hand may furnish.

Gambling.

The writer once spent a Saturday afternoon in the study of a dignitary of the church while the ecclesiastic struggled in vain to frame an argument against gambling to be presented to the congregation on the morrow. He abandoned the attempt. Far be it from a literary journal to assert powers the possession of which the professionally religious are fain to disclaim, yet with submission we even venture to believe that at least one cogent and effective argument lies against all forms of gambling—one, namely, based on the truth that wealth, great or small, is a trust and therefore may not be put in risk.

The moralist may declare that the gambler gets, or at least wants to get, something for nothing. Men will laugh. They know better. The winner gave his chance to lose for his winnings. For his losses the winner got his chance to win. But ask the speculator whether he would gamble with trust funds held by him for orphans and then suggest to him the one great truth that is seizing hold of men's conscience, the most hopeful sign in these perplexed days of social unrest, that men are trustees of all that they call their own. —Current Literature.

Life Insurance.

It is an interesting fact that, whatever the reason may be, life insurance is much more popular in the United States than in any other country. In proportion to their numbers the American people carry twice as much life insurance as the Britishers, five times as much as the Germans and eight times as much as the French.

This is partly explained by the large number of American policies issued to serve other purposes than mere provision for the families of the insured. The scope of what may be called business as distinguished from family insurance is constantly enlarging. A novel and interesting recent development of it is the insurance of the lives of Protestant ministers for large sums which are made payable at their deaths to their churches.—New York World.

Where They Agreed.

At the silver wedding of the Prince and Princess of Wales an English town wished to present an address, but there was a great discussion as to its wording. For some time they could not agree at all. "Conscious as we are of our own unworthiness" was universally condemned, but when some one proposed "Conscious as we are of each other's unworthiness" it was agreed to to a man.

The emblem of the New York City History club is the industrious little beaver, typical of the sturdy ancestors, surrounded by a circle. This beaver was part of the ancient seal of New Amsterdam.

THE ALPHABET MEETING.

The alphabet met and sat that "they
Were not arranged in a proper way."
A had stood at the head too long;
It was not right; it was utterly wrong,
"For you all know and can plainly see
That place belongs to me," said G.
"You take the head, indeed!" said J;
"That place is meant for my dear E."
"Tut, tut, tut! Well, well, well!
I'll stand there myself then," said L.
"Excuse us, please, we think that we Have a word to say," said B, C, D.

"Suppose you have," said F as he
Softly whispered a word to E.
"Who'll prevent, I'd like to know,
Standing head M, N or O?"
"We've listened in silence to all of you
And now will 'head' you," said P and Q.
"Our impression is, you had better try,"
Then angrily spoke both H and I.
"How rude and coarse!" said R, S, T.
"The 'airs' of some!" said U and V.
"Would drive one mad," said W, X, Y, Z.
But, after all, the letters still stand
A at the head, at the foot &.

TALK OF MARRIAGE.

It Is Proper For the Man, but Not For the Girl, Apparently.

A man may remark on his intention to marry at some indefinite future time, when prudence or other considerations may make it possible or advisable, without having, as a rule, to run the gantlet of a chorus of impertinent and stupid would be witty remarks. But should a girl be bold enough, or, rather, natural and simple enough, to say the same thing what would be the result? Why, every one knows that she would be promptly sneered out of countenance.

And why? Is it immodest for a woman to express a determination to enter into a state which we are being continually reminded is a natural and honorable state, while it is modest and proper for a man to do so? Such a distinction would never be drawn except for the "cheapness" to which reference has been made.

If a man wants to marry, he can marry. If the first woman he asks refuses him, he has only to ask a second or perhaps a third or fourth. It would be safe to guarantee that within a month any man of fairly respectable life and position and appearance who cared to make the experiment could marry in his own class, could marry probably a woman much superior to himself.

But what about the girl who intends to marry "some day?" Is she not in a very different position from the man? Here is a girl of good character—much better than the man's, probably—average intelligence, average good looks. Theoretically she is free to marry whom she will, but is she? If she receives one distinct offer of marriage, she has had more than her share, according to the probable average.

The fact that by an unwritten law a woman must not take, and, indeed, does not want to take, the initiative has very little to do with the extremely limited choice which modern conditions impose upon English women.—Nineteenth Century.

Swallowed Two Pounds of Stone.

Stones do not form part of the recognized diet of the cormorant, but one of these birds in the National Zoological park in Washington had a craving which could be satisfied only by eating two pounds of stones. The keeper's attention was attracted to the bird because after having once sat down it couldn't get up. He was picked up, and then the stones were heard rattling inside of him. An official connected with the park decided that something must be done, and he promptly cut the cormorant open and relieved him of his burden. One of the stones, of irregular shape, was 3½ inches long. The incision was sewed up, and for five days the bird got along all right, the wound healing finely, but at the end of that time the cormorant grew restive and pulled out the stitches with his hooked bill. As a consequence of opening up the wound he died.

—J. T. Rothrock, state forestry commissioner, while in Pike county last week, in company with Robert Smith and Henry Frankenfield, assisted in killing nine out of about twenty snakes. The three men had a hard fight, but having clubs and an axe they dispatched the reptiles.

AN UNEQUALED RECORD.

THERE IS A RAPIDLY INCREASING VOLUME OF BELLEFONTE EVIDENCE ROLLING UP FOR THE GREAT MEDICINE, DR. A. W. CHASE'S NERVE PILLS.

It would seem that hardly anyone can take Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills without receiving marked benefit. The wonderful action of this medicine in putting people on their feet who are in a weak run down condition is the talk of every place they are known. It is only a short time since they first came to Bellefonte yet today they are more in evidence for merit with Bellefonte people than all other medicines combined.

Soloman Garrett of No. 301 Allegheny St., Bellefonte, Pa., says:—"I had been feeling very much run down for a long time. My head ached a great deal and I felt tired and sore all over. I was also bothered with sleeplessness at night. I saw Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills so highly recommended I got a box at Krumrine's Drug Store and they did me a great deal of good. I felt first rate after using them and have no hesitation in recommending them to others."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50c a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D. are on every package.

M., and on local trains connecting therewith, and good to return on regular trains within seven days, including day of excursion, will be sold at rate of $9.00 from Philadelphia, $8.40 from Harrisburg, $9.80 from Trenton, $8.40 from Altoona, $9.00 from Lancaster, $9.00 from Reading, $10.00 from Winchester, and proportionate rates from other points. These tickets will not be good in Pullman parlor or sleeping cars in either direction. For specific time and rates, consult local ticket agents.

Union of Servant Girls.

"Mother" Jones, who did so much to encourage the miners in their strike a year ago, holding meetings and addressing them wherever a few could be got together, and who since has assisted the striking silk workers in New Jersey and the carpet weavers in Philadelphia to stand out for their demands, has been in Chicago for the past few weeks assisting the committee of the Women's Trade Union Labor league to organize the servant girls.

As a result of the work done by the committee with the aid of Mother Jones several hundred servant girls will become charter members of the first servant girl's union of Chicago, which will be formed this week.

Railroad Leased.

Leases of the Wellsville, Coudersport and Pine Creek railroad company and the Addison and Susquehanna railroad company, were filed last Wednesday with the secretary of state. The leases are dated April 1 and annul, and take the place of a lease of the Wellsville, Coudersport and Pine Creek dated September 13, 1895, and of the Addison and Susquehanna dated June 25, 1896. The leases are to run for fifty years and the Buffalo company pays the fixed charges of the two leased roads and the sum of $1 per annum as rental in each case.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

Governor Stone to Use the Ax.

HARRISBURG, July 12.—Governor Stone has found it necessary to make a general reduction in the appropriation bills passed by the last legislature awaiting his action to keep within the estimated state revenues of $26,500,000 for the next two years. He is working on the bills and expects to officially announce his action on them as soon as he has disposed of the judicial and congressional apportionment bills and other general legislation not yet acted upon. The reduction of about 50 per cent will be made in the items for new buildings, in the bills for private charities, and about 25 per cent. in the items for maintenance.

Heavy cuts will also be made in the appropriations to the State college, the proposed memorial building at Gettysburg and the projected State Homeopathic Insane hospital.

From what can be learned the $4,000,000 appropriation to complete the capitol will be allowed to stand.

White Man Turned Yellow.

Great consternation was felt by the friends of M. A. Hogarty of Lexington, Ky., when they saw he was turning yellow. His skin slowly changed color, also his eyes, and he suffered terribly. His malady was Yellow Jaundice. He was treated by the best doctors, but without benefit. Then he was advised to try Electric Bitters, the wonderful Stomach and Liver Remedy, and he writes: "After taking two bottles I was wholly cured." A trial proves its matchless merit for all Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles. Only 25c. Sold by F. Potts Green drug store.

Trouble on West Branch Road.

On the new West Branch railroad, between Karthaus and Clearfield, many colored men have been placed at work, having been taken there from the south, and the white people nearby are much displeased. Near Philipsburg one of a party of six negroes, named Howell, was shot in the leg by a man who claimed to be an officer and was trying to arrest him without a warrant. After escaping from the whites who were after him, Howell made his way to Tyrone, where he arrived in an exhausted condition.

A Poor Millionaire

Lately starved in London because he could not digest his food. Early use of Dr. King's New Life Pills would have saved him. They strengthen the stomach, aid digestion, promote assimilation, improve appetite. Price 25c. Money back if not satisfied. Sold by F. Potts Green druggist.

Found Babe's Body in the Woods.

At Stanley, near DuBois, Thursday some boys were playing in the woods when they came across a small wooden box, which they opened and found it contained the body of a child. The babe was without regular clothing, and had evidently been dead for several days. It was a mere infant, possibly a week old. The boys reported their discovery and word was sent to the nearest justice of the peace, who began an investigation.

The Crop Outlook.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Preliminary returns to the statistician of the department of Agriculture on the acreage of corn planted indicate a reduction of about 400,000 acres from the area planted last year.

The average condition of the growing crop is 81.3, as compared with 89.5 on July 1, 1900, and a ten year average of 90.3. The condition of winter wheat improved during June, being 88.3 on July 1, as compared with 87.8 on June 1, 80.8 on July 1, 1900, and a ten-year average of 80.2. All the important winter wheat states share in this improvement except Ohio and Maryland, in which the condition declined five points. The average condition of spring wheat also improved during the month, being 95.6 on July 1, as compared with 92.0 one month ago, 55.2 on July 1, 1900, and a ten-year average of 85.6. The condition of spring and winter wheat combined on July 1, was 91.1, against 69.8 on July 1, 1900. The amount of wheat remaining in the hands of farmers on July 1 is estimated at about 31,000,000 bushels, or the equivalent of 55.5 per cent.

The average oat crop is 83.7 as compared with 85.3 one month ago, 85.5 on July 1, 1900, and a ten-year average of 87.7.

The average condition of barley is 91.3 as against 91.0 one month ago; 76.3 on July 1, 1900.

The average condition of winter rye is 93.6 as compared with 89.6 on July 1, 1900, and a ten year average of 88.3.

The average condition of spring rye is 93.3 as compared with 69.7 on July 1, and a ten year average of 87.3.

The condition of tobacco is one point above the ten year average in Ohio, four in Virginia and seven in Maryland. On the other hand it is two points below in Kentucky, three in Pennsylvania, four in North Carolina and twelve in Wisconsin, while in Tennessee it comes up to the ten year average for that state.

Modern Woodmen.

A delegation of Modern Woodmen went to Millheim on Tuesday evening. Capt. Hugh S. Taylor, Boyd A. Musser, T. G. Cruse, and J. S. Knisely, of Bellefonte; Squire W. S. Harter, W. A. Collins, J. P. Pillsbury, W. B. Ralston, Wm. Hoy, J. F. Condo, J. Kemerer, H. G. Glen, J. W. Somer, Jos. Mingle, W. M. Sauers and H. D. Edmiston, of State College; to assist in instituting a camp of Modern Woodmen. The new camp starts out with sixteen names and promises to be one of the best, and known as Millheim camp, No. 9,833.

The installing exercises were under the charge of Deputy Head Consul, W. S. Harter, of State College. The following officers were elected and installed:

OHIO DEMOCRATIC TICKET

James Kilbourne Carries Off the Gubernatorial Prize.

HOW THE OTHER PLUMS DIVIDED

The Name of Bryan Was Not One Which Received Much Recognition and His Pictures Were Trampled Under Foot.

NO VOTE OF CONFIDENCE PASSED

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 11.—The ticket nominated by the Democratic State convention yesterday is as follows:

Governor, James Kilbourne; lieutenant governor, Anthony Howells; judge of the supreme court, Joseph Heidy; clerk of the supreme court, Harry B. Young; attorney general, M. B. Carthy; treasurer of state, R. P. Alshire; member of the board of public works, James P. Holman.

The convention had more prominent men as delegates than any convention of the Democrats in Ohio in many years. The nomination of Colonel Kilbourne was appropriately called one of 'spontaneous combustion." Howells, Heidy, Alshire and Holman were favorites from the start. Young was sprung as a surprise and nominated over Smoots, who had been such a favorite that others would not previously enter the race for clerk of the supreme court.

None of the delegates outside of Cleveland knew Young, and he was named because Cuyahoga wanted him. Cuyahoga could get anything it wanted, except the head of the state ticket, after Johnson amendments were grafted into the McLean platform and that document as amended was adopted with such unanimity.

It was currently reported that Johnson desired the nomination of Monnett as attorney general and that the McLean men wanted Monnett defeated. He had sought a third term. After his defeat for the third nomination in 1899 he supported Bryan in 1900 on the anti-trust issue and canvassed Ohio and other states with Bryan. In the alleged stampede "for principles rather than money" a striking turn of the convention was on and bitter things were said of his leadership in the convention.

After this plan had been agreed upon one of the 21 members of that committee offered a minority report, reaffirming the Kansas City platform and expressing confidence in Bryan. He received only six votes from the 950 delegates on the substitute for the preamble. A few moments after the platform was adopted one of these six delegates called attention to the fact that pictures of other Democrats were displayed in the hall and none of Bryan as heretofore. He started to carry a small banner with Bryan's picture on it to the platform. The aisles were ordered cleared, but the picture did not reach its destination. It was trampled under foot and spoiled during the wild demonstrations when Kilbourne was escorted into the hall. While it is generally believed that the marching clubs did not know they were walking over Bryan's picture, yet there was much comment after the convention that the picture was not treated worse than had been the old standard bearer himself by the committee on resolutions and the convention.

Members of the committee on resolutions said a half hour was spent after midnight in efforts to strike the word "saleable" out of the plank on railway taxation and several hours in denouncing the Chicago and Kansas City platforms and the leader who stood on them. The platform caused much comment last night over what it does not say, as well as over what it does say.

The worries of a weak and sick mother are only begun with the birth of her child. By day her work is constantly interrupted and at night her rest is broken by the wailing of the peevish, puny infant. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It lightens all the burdens of maternity, giving to mothers strength and vigor, which they impart to their children. In over thirty years of practice Dr. Pierce and his associate staff of nearly a score of physicans have treated and cured more than half a million suffering women. Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free of charge. All correspondence is strictly private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dose for a Mule Not Good for Man.

Frank Kershaw, a burly Hungarian, swallowed a bottle of horse medicine at Draper colliery to get quick relief from a severe attack of cramps. Five minutes later he was seized with violent pains and went bellowing through the mines like a mad man. A physician arrived and administered an antidote. Tuesday night Frank, deathly sick but out of danger, remarked to the doctor: "Big dose good for mule; no good for big man."

Retrospect.

It is an evil day for the wife and mother when she scans her worn face in the mirror, and asks the question, "Does it pay? Does it pay to sacrifice health and happiness to wedded love?" But there is another question which rightly takes precedence of Does it pay? It is this: "Is it necessary to sacrifice health and happiness to wedded love?" Half a million women answer, No! They have been weak and have been made strong by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. They were sick and "Favorite Prescription" made them well. It will do the same for almost every woman who gives it a fair and faithful trial. It stops weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It tranqualizes the nerves and encourages the appetite.

"I expected to become a mother, and a threatened mischance greatly weakened me," writes Mrs. E. A. Nations, of Witts Springs, Searcy Co., Ark., "and my old disease returned. My husband got another doctor for me but I seemed to just drag along and get no better. At last I told the doctor that if his medicine did not help me I would go back to Dr. Pierce's medicines. I did so, and by the time I had taken them one month I could do my own housework, except washing, and tended my garden too. I was stouter than I had ever been while waiting baby's coming since my first baby came (this one was the sixth child). She is now eleven months old and is a healthy child. As for me, I feel as young now as I did at eighteen years of age; am thirty now. I can cheerfully recommend Dr. Pierce's medicine to all suffering womankind."

Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness and sick headache.

Hicks on the Weather.

Rev. I. R. Hicks says the central storm period for the month falls from the 14th to the 18th. The crisis of this period will fall from Sunday, the 14th, to Thursday the 18th. If sufficient humidity should not be present during the regular storm days in this period, there is great probability of extreme heat and hot, withering winds especially in the open, grain regions of the west and northwest. Thunder gusts are probable about July 19. Reactionary disturbances are due about the 21st and 22d. More or less rain, with probable cloudbursts, hail and dangerous winds need not surprise any one during the severe storm period which is central on the 26th. One of the warmest terms of the summer may be expected in connection with this period, and many storm clouds with severe thunder gusts will be natural about Thursday, the 25th, to Sunday the 28th. Destructive hail storms are more than probable at this period. The great heat, probable at this time will break up at the conclusion of the storms, and very cool nights for the season will follow in most parts of the country, especially in the northwest.

A Business Opportunity for Bellefonte.

George Pfan, of Riverside, N. J., is looking for a location for a factory to manufacture enameled kid shoes. He has a preference for Bellefonte, owing to friends now living here, and has written to the effect he will come here if he can procure a two story building, about 40x80 in size, and $25,000 in cash. On the latter he guarantees 10 per cent. interest and writes that he has an exceptionally good proposition for any town.

Mr. Pfan ought to know the shoe business, since he was connected with the old Thatcher Shoe Co. for years and is considered to be one of the best men in his line in the country.

Made Quite a Haul.

The Lock Haven Democrat contains the following further particulars of the robbery of Potter's store at Karthaus.

W. B. Potter arrived in Lock Haven Tuesday evening and identified the goods that were stolen from his store at Karthaus Monday night. The colored man, who had the goods in his possession, gave his name as Baird. He had been employed on the West Branch railroad. Among the stolen goods were three pairs pantaloons, shoes, four or five suits of underwear, one of which he had on, four boys' suits, several bottles of cologne, several neckties, many pairs of stockings, shirt, watch and chain, a box of cigars, cuff buttons and other jewelry, two ladies' fans, a pair of lady's kid gloves, clothes and hair brushes, and about thirty-five dollars in money.

Baird states that another man robbed the store while he stood outside. The other man, he says, went the other direction, while he, after being given the goods, hired a man to take him to Gillintown. He bought a ticket for Washington, D. C., and boarded the Beech Creek train.

Baird was taken by Constable Myers to Clearfield, where he will await trial at court.

BUSINESS WORLD.

General Business Continues Its Even Course during the Week.

CONFIDENCE FELT ON ALL HANDS

The Iron and Steel Business is Very Brisk and There is a Distinct Improvement in Demand for Some Products.

FAILURES HERE AND IN CHINA

NEW YORK, July 13.—R. G. Dun & Company's Weekly Review of Trade today says:

General business continues its even course with all the leading industries well employed and with confidence expressed on every hand. Bountiful crops of wheat seem assured and the damage to corn, while considerable in some directions, does not promise to be sufficiently general or serious to at all impede the progress of the country. Labor troubles are in process of settlement and speculators have been responsible for most o' the unrest which has been reflected in the markets.

Steel mills are actively employed and there is a distinct improvement in the demand for finished products, while quotations are without alteration. In bars for use by makers of agricultural implements there is a brisk movement, plates are taken readily and there is no sign of diminished purchasing in structural material. Rails are ordered freely, with notable pressure for trolley and other light weights. Billets are more quiet and few new transactions are recorded in pig furnaces in blast on July 1, as recorded by iron. The total number of pig iron the Iron Age, was but three less than a month previously, and the weekly capacity was 310,950 tons. Although this is a trifling decrease of 3,555 tons, compared with the production on June 1, it far exceeds all earlier records. On July 1, 1900, the weekly output was 283,413 and in 1899 it was 263,363 tons. The most startling and gratifying feature of the situation is the decrease of 15,125 tons in furnace stocks, notwithstanding the output at the rate of over 16,100,000 tons annually.

Improvement is general in the footwear industry, although no higher prices can be obtained. Textile lines have settled in a steady position. Wool has not altered in price, but the tone is firmer and sales increase. In the cotton goods division there is nothing new, recent advanced prices being fully sustained and mills keeping wheels in motion as a rule. The raw material has declined.

Grain crops this season are occasioning much uneasiness among speculators owing to the extremely complicated situation. According to the latest official and unofficial prognostications there is reason to anticipate the heaviest wheat yield ever harvested and making the customary allowances for domestic consumption, even with the small supplies on hand when the year opened, there appears available for export about fifty per cent. more than went abroad in the year of greatest shipments. Yet prices are far above the low record, and vigorous rallies follow each decline. Extensive needs abroad continue the movement from Atlantic ports for the week amounting to 3,208 634 bushels against 2,198,443 a year ago, and western receipts were 4,579,378 bushels against 2,618,677 last year. Corn exhibited remarkable strength, drouth and heat since July 1st giving reason to expect less than the official report, which indicated more than 2,000,000,000 bushels. This cereal is now at an exceptionally high point, and estimates of 200,000,000 bushels for export are too high, as foreigners will not buy freely at the enhanced value.

Failures for the week numbered 208 in the United States against 196 last year, and twenty-seven in Canada against twenty-four last year.

A NOBLE RECORD.

As the result of 35 years' work, said General Booth, head of the Salvation Army, recently, the Salvation Army was to be found in 47 countries, and had literature in 30 different languages. The Army had over 7,200 separate societies, with 14,000 officers and 40,000 lay officers; 609 social institutions, with 1,700 officers; a labor bureau giving employment to 6,800 people; 109 rescue places, 72 workshops and factories and 13 farm colonies. The Army also sheltered 15,000 outcasts every evening and had given away millions of breakfasts.

—A coming event of unusual social attraction will be a fancy dress ball and reception to be given in the Armory Thursday evening, July 25th. The price of admission will be 50 cents for those appearing in fancy costume and $1.00 for those in usual attire. The proceeds will be applied to the Public Library fund.

Eczema

How it reddens the skin, itches, oozes, dries and scales!

Some people call it tetter, milk crust or salt rheum.

The suffering from it is sometimes intense; local applications are resorted to—they mitigate, but cannot cure.

It proceeds from humors inherited or acquired and persists until these have been removed.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

positively removes them, has radically and permanently cured the worst cases, and is without an equal for all cutaneous eruptions.

Died in Kansas.

News was received in Millheim last week, says the "Journal" of that place, of the death of Mrs. T. G. Erhard, formerly of Haines township, at Wellington, Kansas, on the 23rd ult., aged 65 years, 4 months and 27 days. She commenced to fail in health last September, but was able to be about most of the time until about five weeks ago when she began to sink rapidly until death relieved her. She had cancer of the liver and suffered greatly at times, but endured all with patience. The remains were laid to rest at Perth, Kansas, on the 25th ult.

Mrs. Erhard, nee Sallie Gulecwic, was born in Haines township, Centre county, Pa., on the 26th of January, 1836. She joined the Lutheran church at Aaronsburg in her 16th year and remained steadfast in her faith until death. She was married in 1856 and lived in Haines township until 1881 when they moved to Sumner county, Kansas.

One little girl died in infancy and is buried at Aaronsburg, Pa. Her husband and four sons survive her. Her pastor, Rev. E. E. Spangler, officiated at the funeral.

The Old Comforter.

We cannot flatter ourselves that because the weather is warm and pleasant, or intensely hot, that we will possibly be free from Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Soreness and Stiffness and the mishaps which occur, such as Sprains, Bruises and Hurts of all kinds; indeed, it is true that with some of them the suffering is more intense in Summer than in any other season. It is wise therefore, to have on hand a supply of St. Jacobs Oil, because it is universally known as the old and most reliable remedy and cure for all these afflictions, and the torturers of these troubles added to the heat make life needlessly unhappy.

A Peculiar Accident.

George Bilger, an employe in Bloom's Run stone quarry near Curwensville, Monday, was driving a horse hitched to a stone hoisting machine. A large stone was hooked and the horse started to wind it up. It proved too heavy and the horse slipped. The lad stepped in behind the beam and bit the horse a cut. The animal jumped and broke the single-tree, the beam flew back and caught the lad about the middle, with such force that both legs were broken at the thigh and knocking him to the earth, cutting his head and bruising the body. The beam swung around the circle and caught the horse on the front legs, knocking him over and breaking both its front legs.

It Dazzles The World.

No Discovery in medicine has ever created one quarter of the excitement that has been caused by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. It's severest tests have been on hopeless victims of Consumption, Pneumonia, Hemorrhage, Pleurisy and Bronchitis, thousands of whom it has restored to perfect health. For Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Hay Fever, Hoarseness and Whooping Cough it is the quickest, surest cure in the world. It is Sold by F. Potts Green who guarantees satisfaction or refunds money. Large bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles Free.

Bond Issue May be Held Up.

A movement has been started to secure an injunction against Lycoming county commissioners, restraining them from issuing $130,000 worth of 3½ per cent. refunding bonds by private contract, as contemplated. Instead of advertising and offering the bonds to the highest bidder, Commissioners Wheeland and Sherman recently passed a resolution giving holders of present 4 per cent. bonds the privilege of subscribing for the new bonds at par, the balance to be awarded to T. B. Painter, of Muncy, at par.

COUNCIL MEETING.

Regular Semi-Monthly Session of the Borough Fathers.

Council met Monday evening at 7:30 with President Gerberich in the chair and the following members present: Reynolds, Knisely, Garrity, Cunningham and Whittaker.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved after which council proceeded to consider the business before them.

Burgess Blanchard reported the bad condition of a board walk on the Cruse property on East Lamb street. He also suggested the purchase of summer helmets for the Policemen.

Mr. Knisely on behalf of the Glass Company asked for a larger tap for their water supply at the factory. The request was granted.

Water committee reported putting in 5 inch meter at the Big Spring Creamery. Hauled stone off Howard street and repaired crossings on Howard and Allegheny. Pumps running 24 hours and everything in good order at Water works. They recommended the purchasing of a machine for tapping water pipes. Council agreed to order same.

The Market committee reported collecting $9.00 market fees.

The Street committee reported against putting a new light on Burnside street. The nuisance complained of on East Bishop street will soon be abated, the property owners having agreed to lay gutters.

The Street committee was authorized to draw up an ordinance regulating the width of side walks to be laid in the boro.

The purchase of summer hats for the Police was left in the hands of the Fire and Police committee with power to act.

Mr. Whittaker moved seconded by Mr. Garrity that a 6 inch water pipe be laid on Bishop street and a 4 inch pipe be laid on East High. This will make a circuit starting from Bishop clear around to Allegheny. The new pipe will start at John Anderson's residence on East Bishop, out Bishop to Wilson street, to East High down to the residence of Dr. Dorworth. The motion was carried. The cost of the pipe and the laying of it will be about $1400.

Of Interest to Commissioners.

Among the bills signed by Governor Stone Thursday was the one authorizing the county commissioners to rebuild bridges over any stream or river forming the boundary line between two counties which have been destroyed by ice, flood or otherwise.

It provides that the county commissioners shall act jointly with the state board of public property in contracting for and constructing such bridges when the state board of property shall deem them necessary, and divides the expense of the work between the Commonwealth and the counties affected.

Death of George Shaffer, of Madisonburg.

George Shaffer, of Madisonburg, one of the oldest and most esteemed residents of Miles township, died at his home in Madisonburg Friday night, aged 87 years, 7 months and 21 days. The deceased was the father of Lieut. Daniel Shaffer, of Co. A, 148 Pennsylvania Volunteers, and was the last member of the old Shaffer family of Centre county of which Judge John A. Shaffer was the head.

—A returned soldier from the Philippines says General Funston's capture of Aguinaldo was a farce. The capture, he affirms, "was prearranged, and Funston was only cast for the leading hero of the drama and played his part to perfection." Are we to have another military hero reduced to sawdust?

—Last year Uncle Sam turned out new coins worth $136,000,000, of which $99,000,000 were gold.

A FAREWELL SOCIAL.

A delightful affair was enjoyed in the lecture room of the Methodist Episcopal church, Friday evening, by the members of the Epworth League. It was an Epworth League farewell social, given in honor of Mr. Charles H. McClure who left Monday for the Philippine Islands to engage in the profession of teaching.

More than a hundred members of the Epworth League responded to the cards of invitation which were sent out the day before.

The pastor, Rev. Wilford P. Shriner, in a felicitous address, congratulated Mr. McClure over his graduation at Princeton University and in warm words assured him of the League's interest in and constant prayers for a successful journey and even more successful career.

J. E. Johnson, Esq., president of the League, followed in an earnest and interesting address, touching particularly upon the lives of our many great men who, with humble beginnings, ascended the highest pinnacles of fame, and expressed the belief that our guest of honor would not disappoint the expectation of his friends. Mr. McClure was deeply touched, as his response showed; but in a pleasing and modest manner he thanked his friends for their interest in him and among other things said, "My going away is made more interesting over the anticipated pleasure of my coming back again."

Miss Faxon, in her graceful and charming manner, added much to the delight of the occasion by three recitations. "America" and "Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me" were heartily sung, refreshments were served and amid greetings and social intercourse the pleasing occasion terminated.

NELSON E. ROBB.

Appointed Superintendent of the North and West Branch Telephone Company.

The many friends of Nelson E. Robb will be glad to learn of the good fortune that has come to him. He has been appointed and accepted the position of superintendent of the North and West Branch Telephone company with headquarters at Williamsport. He entered upon the duties of his new position Wednesday. We are pleased to state that Bellefonte will not lose him as a resident and that he will be here once a week, his family still residing here. Mr. Robb will continue as Recorder of Centre county, the duties of his office being conducted in his absence by his very efficient deputy, A. M. Sloteman, who will be assisted by Burt Robb. Mr. Sloteman is a very careful, painstaking and obliging official, who thoroughly understands the duties of the office, and there is no doubt but what the records will be kept just as carefully as heretofore and the business of the office conducted in the best possible manner.

DEATH OF WILLIAM STRAUB.

Passed Away at His Home on Valentine Street Thursday Evening.

William Straub, a well known and highly respected citizen, died at his home on Valentine street Thursday evening at 6 o'clock of a complication of diseases. He had been a sufferer for some time and in addition to his other ailments had been blind for the past two years, but he bore it all with such patient christian fortitude as to win the admiration of all who knew him.

He was born in New Berlin, Union county, Pa., April 9th 1829 making his age just 72 years 3 months and 2 days He was the son of George and Lizzie Straub, highly respected residents of Union county. When 17 years of age he located at Pleasant Gap, Centre county, and later came to Bellefonte where for 38 years he worked at his trade as a pattern maker with the firm of Jenkins & Lingle and their predecessors. He was an earnest christian and a member of the Methodist church since he was 24 years of age. He was one of the promoters of the building of the present Bellefonte Methodist church and was at that time treasurer of the board of trustees. A man of sterling character he won the respect and confidence of the whole community.

Dec. 22, 1854 he married Miss Nancy Ashton, of Centre Furnace, who preceded him to the grave about four years ago. Three children survive this union, namely, E. Milton, Elmer E., and Emma Blanche, all of Bellefonte.

The following brothers and sisters also survive, Henry, of Brookville; Levi, of Chicago; Edward and Mrs. Isaac Miller, of Bellefonte, and Mrs. Lydia Weaver of Brush Valley.

The funeral took place Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the house. Interment in the Union cemetery.

MRS. ISABELLA RICHARD.

Passed Away Tuesday Morning at Her Home on East Linn Street.

Mrs. Isabella Richard, widow of the late F. C. Richard, died Tuesday morning at 5 o'clock at her home on East Linn street after an illness extending over a period of two years. She was a sufferer from a complication of diseases but the final cause of death was paralysis.

Deceased was of English descent having been born near London, England, Feb. 21st 1830 making her age, 71 years 4 months and 25 days. Her maiden name was Isabella Hedley, and she was the daughter of Robert Hedley, an excise officer for the British government. When quite young she came to this country and settled in Philadelphia where in 1857 she was united in marriage to F. C. Richard. In 1871 they came to Bellefonte where they made their home, Mr. Richard being successfully engaged in the jewelry business. Mr. Richard preceded his wife to the grave several years ago.

Deceased always took an interest in church work and was a faithful member of St. John's Episcopal church of this place. Her kind and affectionate manner won for her the friendship of a large circle of friends and acquaintances who will sincerely mourn her departure.

She is survived by the following children Charles and Edward, of Bellefonte, and Mrs. Thomas H. Hill, of Philadelphia.

The funeral will take place this morning at 10 o'clock from the house. In the absence of her pastor, Rev. Brown, the services will be conducted by Rev. H. C. Holloway, pastor of the Lutheran church. Interment in the Union cemetery.

—Rumors of the sale of the Froederer-Mack rapid transit franchises to the Union Traction company continue to circulate in Philadelphia financial circles. For these franchises John Wanamaker offered the city $2,500,000 and a bonus of $500,000 to the Froederer-Mack gang for their franchise rights. The price to be paid by the Union Traction company is said to be $1,750,000. Of this amount the city will get nothing, the Froederer-Mack syndicate will get all.
